Secretary vanishes after encounter with space aliens

UFO kidnap!

MISSING! Jackie Smith told co-workers that a four-eyed space alien appeared in her car!

A 39-year-old secretary vanished from the face of the earth less than 24 hours after she told friends that space aliens were trying to abduct her!

Now authorities are trying to figure out if Jackie Smith is in hiding or in the clutches of the extraterrestrials who allegedly had been tailing her.

By HENRY WEBER

"Either way it's an alarming situation," UFO investigator Jenny Randles told reporters in Warrington, England. "The young woman who disappeared is not some kind of UFO nut.

"Her friends and co-workers say she is rock solid. When she told them space aliens were after her they believed her."

The woman's boss, Andy Egan, recalled how terrified the woman was the day before she vanished.

"She turned up at the office in a panic," he said. "She said she was driving along in her Toyota when it was whisked into the air and mysteriously transported 'to a different place.'

"The next thing she remembered was waking up in the car about six hours later with blue dots on her ankles and neck."

According to a co-worker, Sally Warren, Miss Smith also said that several "strange beings suddenly appeared in her car" a few seconds before the vehicle was transported through the air.

Miss Smith described the aliens as being "tall, manlike and extremely muscular, with small round heads and four eyes," her friend said.

"The blue dots on Miss Smith's ankles and neck are classic signs of testing by aliens," said Mrs. Randles. "She may be in hiding, terrified they'll come back to get her.

"It's also possible that they already have come back and Miss Smith is now with them."

The young woman's mother, Rose Smith, is frantic. She said her daughter used to telephone her everyday come hell or high water — but hasn't called since she disappeared.

"Something bad has happened to her, I just know it," said Mrs. Smith, 66, of London. "Jackie isn't the kind to play a joke of any kind, much less something so upsetting as this.

"What if those spacemen did get her?" she sobbed. "I pray to God that they bring her back unharmed. The least they could do is come and get me.

"The least they could do is let me be with my daughter."

Government officials refused to discuss Miss Smith's disappearance and referred questions to police.

Police spokesman Michael Fletcher said detectives are baffled by the woman's disappearance. There is no evidence of foul play. And a search of her house revealed that all of her clothes are still there.

"She left in a hurry," Fletcher said. "Her car is in the driveway. Her closets are full of clothes. Her checkbook is on a dresser.

"I've never been a big believer in UFOs," he said. "But this case makes me wonder.

"Maybe they do exist and maybe they are coming down to Earth. It's not a pretty thought."

RAPE SUSPECT John Holland was described as an intelligent guy. The suspect was a tennis pro and considered a nice guy.

Cops: Hypnotist used skills to attack students

By SUSAN JIMISON

A mild-mannered rapist gained tremendous power over his victims, police say — by using hypnosis to get them to cooperate in sexual assaults!

The 33-year-old suspect, John Calvin Holland, was arrested and charged with third-degree criminal sexual conduct after a student at Clemson University in Clemson, S.C., picked him out of a police lineup.

Since then more than 20 other students have revealed they, too, were victims of assault by the soft-spoken tennis pro.

"Holland said he was conducting a psychology experiment and asked his victims if they wanted to be involved in the project," Thea McCrary, a spokesman for the university's police department, told The NEWS.

"In the case for which he was arrested, he went through a long, drawn out mesmerizing procedure with his victim. While this was going on, the rape occurred. We believe he pressed on his victim's neck, blocking blood flow to the brain and causing unconsciousness."

After the 18-year-old victim told campus police what had happened, word spread about the bizarre hypnotic rapist and other students with similar stories contacted cops.

under arrest. "He had a good line and he would approach people he thought would not report a crime," Miss McCrary said.

"He presented himself real well — he is college-educated and well-read.

"The first complainant said Holland entered the student's dormitory room looking for a roommate who, he said, had an appointment with him to be a subject in his psychology study. The victim agreed to take the place of the student and later remembered being assaulted under hypnosis."

Miss McCrary said that complainants at two other universities have joined the crowd of students victimized by the hypnotist. Holland faces 10 years if convicted.

Nude jogger causes accident

A 17-year-old girl told police she panicked and backed her car into another auto — because a naked jogger scared her.

"It's the best story I ever heard to explain an accident," said she was leaving a girlfriend's house when she saw a man jog by, naked from the waist down.

She told cops she honked at the guy and he ran toward her car.

Getting fat scares kids

Little girls learn to be afraid of getting fat long before they hit their teens, a fascinating new study shows.

They begin to worry about gaining weight as early as 5 or 6 years of age and they develop negative attitudes toward fat people at the same time, according to new research.

"The available evidence suggests that by 6 to 9 years of age, children dislike the obese body build," the study concluded. Scientists blamed TV for forming the anti-fat attitudes by equating "beauty and the good life."

37-year-old mom of 5 runs off with boy, 11

COPS nabbed housewife Janette Buckley, right, after she disappeared for five days with schoolboy Wayne Burgess.

For shame!

She dumps hubby — for neighbor's son!

By JOE BERGER

Hightailing housewife Janette Buckley, 37, was being quizzed by cops after she dumped her stunned hubby and five kids — to run away with an 11-year-old neighbor boy!

The lovestruck lady was on the lam with shy schoolboy Wayne Burgess for five days before Wayne walked into police headquarters in his hometown of Corby, England, to give himself up.

Janette was nabbed a short time later, but lawmen said they hadn't decided whether to file charges against her.

"No matter what the police do, my wife needs help," said her hopping-mad hubby Tom Buckley, 42. "The woman actually thinks she's in love with that little boy.

"I'm so ashamed of what she's done I can hardly bear it. We've been married almost 18 years but that's all over now."

The bizarre romance blossomed several months ago, shortly after Wayne's family moved next door to the Buckleys.

"It was about February that I started to get a little concerned about all the time Wayne was spending with Mrs. Buckley," recalled the boy's mystified mom Kathleen Burgess.

"She used to come by claiming it was to see me, but after about five minutes she would ask to speak to Wayne alone. I could see there was something unnatural going on there, but when I spoke to Janette she just laughed it off," said Mrs. Burgess.

"I told Wayne to stay away from her, but he started sneaking over to her house behind my back. Then the next thing I knew they had run off together."

Enchanted Janette and her baby beau hopped a bus and skipped out of town, but cops refused to say where they went or how they spent their time together.

"There are still a lot of questions to be asked," a police spokesman said.

But Janette's fed up hubby, who took a leave of absence from his job to look after the couple's five kids, said he's got all the answers he needs.

"I know what she did," said the tough-luck laborer. "She ran off with a boy scarcely out of diapers. Now she says she wants to come home — but as far as I'm concerned it's too late for that."

Thief swipes church safe during service

A quiet thief stole a 600-pound safe from the office of a church while 150 true believers praised the Lord — 75 feet away!

Whoever took that safe "sure was quick," said the Rev. D. L. Rehmel, pastor of a Church of God in Lantana, Fla. "We're just baffled."

In spite of what happened, the preacher gives the thief his best — almost.

"I don't really wish anything tragic would happen to him," he said. "But it wouldn't make me feel bad if he slammed his fingers in the door while trying to open it.

"Just a reminder," he said.

Couple lives together but they haven't spoken in 4 years!

I'd rather talk to my pigeons than my wife

By RICK LANNING

Norman and Marlene Duffy live in the same house — but they haven't spoken to each other since 1984.

In fact, Norman, 46, a husky steelworker, admits he thinks more of his pigeons than he does of his wife. The only reason they stay together is because of their four children.

SILENT wife Marlene Duffy does all the chores around the house and keeps her mum hubby in sandwiches and beer.

In order to live together under the same roof in Goole, England, the wordless couple have worked out an arrangement that is barely tolerable to both of them.

Each morning at 5:30, Norman leaves home to spend the day with his pigeons.

Marlene leaves him $2 spending money on the table, along with a half ounce of tobacco. Sometimes she adds a dollar to bet on the horses.

At lunchtime, Norman's freshly made sandwiches are waiting for him outside his pigeon loft. His evening meal is left on the kitchen table.

Tuesday is Norman's big night out. That's when Marlene leaves him an extra $4 to buy beer when he plays dominoes with friends at a local pub.

The problem is that Norman has been found guilty of claiming unemployment benefits while his wife worked part-time in a factory.

Through his attorney Max Gold, Norman is fighting the charges.

"I had no idea she was working," the steelworker told a court. "We have no contact with each other."

Marlene agreed, telling magistrates, "He didn't know I was working because I never told him."

The judges didn't believe Norman. They found him guilty of two counts of making false claims for unemployment benefits.

Marlene, 43, told the court she always cashed her husband's unemployment checks and was totally responsible for running the household.

She added tartly, "In our 22 has done very little. I handle all the decorating and maintenance jobs.

"All he's interested in is his allotment and his pigeons. He's married to them — not me."

When the couple's marriage began falling apart four years ago, they divided up the house and agreed to stay together until their children, aged 12 to 19, were out of school.

The silent hubby disputes the charges and says he can't understand why he is being prosecuted.

He added, "I was quite happy to leave everything to her.

"I never knew she was working."

After hearing the case, magistrates in Goole delayed sentencing until they could receive reports on the couple.

A friend of the family said Norman and Marlene still are not speaking.

"She sleeps upstairs, he sleeps downstairs and takes care of his pigeons," the friend stated.

"When it rains, he has another out — he just visits his sister."

Jail for woman who killed a mom to steal her unborn baby

By PETE COOKE

A woman who was so obsessed with having a child that she kidnapped a pregnant mom and performed a crude cesarean on her to take the baby has been sentenced to life behind bars.

The ghastly case ended when a judge in Albuquerque, N.Mex., gave 20-year-old Darci Pierce a life term for murdering Cindy Ray, 23.

Evidence in the chilling trial showed that Mrs. Pierce was so obsessed with having a baby she put on weight and pretended to be pregnant. The act was so convincing that even her husband believed she was due to deliver at any time.

Even though she wasn't pregnant Mrs. Pierce did have a bizarre plan to bring home a baby.

On a sweltering afternoon last July, Mrs. Pierce parked her battered Volkswagen at a health clinic and waited for a pregnant woman near full term to come out.

Mrs. Ray, who was 8½ months pregnant, finished her final prenatal checkup and walked out of the clinic toward a horrifying fate.

Although both women were married to airmen stationed at Kirtland Air Force Base, they did not know each other. Mrs. Pierce pulled a realistic toy gun and ordered the helpless pregnant woman into her car.

Mrs. Pierce then drove her prisoner into the Manzano Mountains east of Albuquerque.

Prosecutor Harry Zimmerman said Mrs. Ray was strangled, but still alive when Mrs. Pierce "used the victim's car key to cut open her abdomen and remove the baby."

While Cindy Ray lay bleeding to death, Mrs. Pierce cut the umbilical cord and then splashed blood on herself in an attempt to make it appear she had given birth.

When she later showed up at an Albuquerque hospital, Mrs. Pierce claimed that she had delivered her own baby girl after going into labor on the side of a highway. But suspicious doctors called police, who were already searching for Cindy Ray. Mrs. Pierce led authorities to the body.

"The murder — a mutilation, murder — is not the product of a diseased mind, but the product of a diseased heart and soul," prosecutor Michael Cox told the jurors.

Mrs. Pierce was found guilty, but mentally ill on all counts and given the maximum sentence for each — life for murder, 18 years for kidnapping and 18 months for child abuse.

The sentences are to run concurrently and she will not become eligible for parole for 30 years.

husband, took the couple's 2-year-old son and newborn daughter, Amelia, back to Payson, Utah.

He left the Air Force and enrolled in Brigham Young University, studying to become a teacher.

"The hardest part isn't for me," he said.

"The hardest part is watching those kids go through the pain. To see that little boy hug me and cry, and to see that little girl grow up without her mom."

CONVICTED of murder, Darci Pierce walks into the courtroom for sentencing with her attorney Tom Jameson.

Piano mover had to take convict to prison

Chubby drug peddler's too fat for courtroom

By RAFE KLINGER

Fatso defendant Daniel M. Elkins was so huge and difficult to move that his trial had to be switched from the courtroom to the lobby when his king-size wheelchair wouldn't fit through the doors.

Then, authorities had to hire a piano mover to transport Elkins' 600-pound bulk from Columbus, Ohio, to the state penitentiary at Orient.

"In my 13½ years here, this has never happened," sighed Judge Tommy L. Thompson of his experience with the gigantic defendant.

Indeed, even bailiff Mike Watson was awed by the size of the 63-year-old Elkins when he was wheeled into the Franklin County Courthouse.

"We've had some big people, but he was a big, big boy," said Watson. "They say he's seven feet tall when he stands, but I've never seen him stand up."

Because of his huge bulk and a myriad of medical problems, Elkins can only stand with difficulty. And his extra-wide wheelchair makes it difficult to wheel him through many doorways.

When his chair wouldn't fit through Thompson's courtroom doors, the judge had to switch the hearing to the lobby.

There, as spectators gawked at the gigantic defendant, Elkins pleaded guilty to charges of selling the prescription drug Percodan from his home. The judge gave Elkins 3 to 15 years and a $15,000 fine.

Elkins was turned over to sheriff's deputies and his size became their headache. Because of the difficulty of getting him in and out of his chair, authorities chose not to put him in a cell. Instead, he was placed in a room normally used as a jail recreation area.

Then, came the problem of transport.

Authorities couldn't find a van with a hydraulic lift to hoist Elkins inside.

Finally, officials contacted a piano moving company which charged $75 to cart the gigantic prisoner off to the slammer in Orient.

Three families have been wiped out by killer flocks

Giant turkeys go on rampage of death!

Terrified ranchers are fortifying their homes after three families in isolated hill country were wiped out in a bloody attack — by a flock of giant turkeys!

By BEATRICE DEXTER

The wholesale slaughter of 14 people along with livestock and family pets has so frightened residents around Neuquen, Argentina, that a special provincial crisis team has been set up to investigate the bizarre bird blitz.

"We assure the population of this area that every step is being taken to find and eliminate the turkey threat," said Rogelio Trenton de Salamanca, chief officer of the crisis team. "Police are alert to signs of the birds and a special corps of army reconnaissance people are operating in the vicinity.

"We have found some signs of the giant birds, but have had no firm sightings yet."

Reports of the turkey attacks reached authorities in early March, several days after the family of rancher Miguel Ortiz was discovered murdered and mutilated in their humble ranch home.

"The ferocity of the attack is appalling," said one expert, Dr. Manuel Dominguez Plata. "Turkeys as a rule are bad tempered, it's true — but these birds are downright bloodthirsty.

"The birds apparently attack without warning, killing and feasting on every living thing in their path."

Authorities believe that the birds have their nests within 10 miles of the Ortiz ranch and have begun an intensive search of the area.

HOW TO READ ANYONE'S MIND

I know exactly what you are thinking right now.

You are quite intrigued. And most skeptical. You sincerely believe that is absolutely impossible. That no one can really read anyone else's mind. From miles away? Never!

You have every right to be unconvinced. "Mind-reading" is usually a stunt performed on TV or in a club. We all know that such demonstrations rely on some kind of secret gimmick.

That while it's great entertainment—it's an out and out fake. Certainly not the real thing.

The real thing—for use in real life—is what I am talking about. Like you, I was totally doubtful that it could ever be done "off-stage." Especially by the average person.

AT LAST! THE REVOLUTIONARY TECHNIQUE THAT TURNS FANTASY INTO SHEER REALITY!

Something happened that converted me from a die-hard cynic into a fervent believer. The "Mind-Read" Manuscript crossed my desk.

As a publisher, I read many manuscripts. Yet, this particular one caught my eye at once. I had heard about the author. He is a highly-gifted psychic with a record for pioneering in the field of extra-sensory perception.

His manuscript stunned me. Practically knocked me off my chair. Any lingering doubt I ever had about the "impossibility" of person-to-person mind communication went flying out the window!

I just couldn't believe my eyes. Here it was, in black and white. Written in simple language anyone could understand. An easy-to-learn break-through technique to enable an ordinary man or woman to read someone else's mind. Anytime. Anywhere. At will!

A TECHNIQUE SO POWERFUL IT MIGHT EVEN BE ILLEGAL!

My first inclination was to burn the manuscript. To destroy it entirely. In the wrong hands, it could be dynamite!

Then I had second thoughts. Why should I be a censor? I believe in a free press. So I printed up a limited edition for distribution only to those who will use the technique carefully and wisely within the law.

If you are such a person, I am more than willing to let you try it out without your risking one cent. That's how confident I am of the integrity and power of this most innovative technique.

Everything is explained in easy, step-by-step detail. No special experience or education is re-

Imagine what it would mean to you to have instant access to another person's thoughts whenever you wished.

You would have immediate, lifetime control over your family, friends, neighbors, business associates—even perfect strangers.

Like it or not, they would come under your direct personal domination. You would know what they were thinking at any given time. No one, not even the sharpest human, could hide a thing from you. Others might be fooled by their words. But not you!

You already know why. You would be able to read their inner-most, hidden thoughts. As clearly as if you were looking at the pages of a book set in type one inch high. Without their ever knowing about it! Unless you, yourself, told them!

Dealing with the opposite sex would be a pleasure. Imagine knowing in advance just what to expect from your date or mate. No more guesswork. No more wasted time. No more frustration. For once, you are boss!

And watch the money roll in. You could outnegotiate anyone in any business situation. "See-through" sales double-talk straight to the plain facts. No one gets the better of you. Not when you can read minds!

Whether you're quoting a price or asking for a raise, you'll never short-change yourself. You'll always know the other party's bottom line. And get it!

There's no "gamble" in gambling when you bet on a sure thing. You'll smile when you sit down to play poker or blackjack. When you know the other players' cards, it is hard to lose!

When a loved one is far away, you'll be at ease. Merely follow the technique to find out what he or she is feeling and doing. It's a lot cheaper than a long-distance telephone call!

This is just the beginning. Day-in and day-out for the rest of your life, you will enjoy using the technique in countless ways. To be happier,

The King has pulled plucky teen back from death four times!

By ROSE GRADY

Elvis is my special angel

His records brought me out of my coma, says brave girl

Teenager Michele Pritzl stared death in the face four times but she battled her way back with help from one of God's special angels — Elvis!

"I'm alive today by the grace of the Lord and with a lot of help from Elvis," the gutsy 17-year-old told The NEWS.

Michele's terrible string of tragedies began when she was only 13 and suffering agonizing head pains. A CAT scan revealed she had an inoperable brain tumor. The horrifying news shattered Michele's mom.

"I cried hysterically," 43-year-old divorcee Delores Pritzl recalled as she sat with Michele in their home in Warrenville, Ill. "I felt as if I had been torn into a thousand little pieces."

Radiation treatments reduced the tumor by 75 percent, but Michele's hair fell out and the blinding headache pain persisted.

To ease her daughter's suffering, the adoring mom played records from Michele's large and treasured Elvis Presley collection.

Because the pain persisted, it was feared that the tumor was growing back and another CAT scan was ordered. The night before she was to have it, their minister, Rev. Donald Hoffman stopped by the house.

"He put his hands on my head and we all prayed," Michele recalled. "He asked God to make the pain go away."

The next day, her baffled doctors told her the tumor had completely vanished.

"I was more shocked than when I first learned Michele had the tumor," mom Delores said. "Michele told me she felt the tumor leave her. It was a miracle."

RADIATION treatment helped Michele overcome her brain tumor but the gutsy little girl lost her hair.

Two years later, tragedy struck a second time when Michele suffered a stroke and lay in a coma for eight days.

Day after day, her loving mom kept a bedside vigil, praying and playing Michele's favorite Elvis religious songs. Once again, prayers were answered and the youngster suddenly awoke from her coma.

A couple of years later, Michele had recovered to the point where she could walk and run.

Then tragedy struck for a third time. While looking for her dog, she was struck down by a pickup truck.

At the hospital, doctors found that Michele had suffered another stroke.

"I prayed to God and said, 'If You're going to take her, take her now. She's suffered enough,'" Delores said.

Once again, she kept a lonely vigil and played Michele's Elvis records.

And 28 days later, Michele awoke from her coma. But the ordeal had left her blind!

But slowly, Michele battled her way back until she was well enough to leave the hospital and go home with her mom.

"She accepts everything that life hands her and just goes on," Delores said.

And there's no doubt that Michele will never give up her battle to be a winner. She's one tough little cookie.

LOVING mom Delores Pritzl has eased Michele's suffering by playing Elvis Presley songs.

'LONELY' MAN KILLS 22 CATS!

A computer program analyst admitted that he strangled a kitten because he thought it was rejecting him — then tortured and killed 21 others for no reason at all!

In a Canadian courtroom packed with angry animal lovers whose cats vanished mysteriously, the 25-year-old Craig Farkas pleaded guilty while the spectators hissed at him.

Authorities in Ottawa said Farkas' hands and arms were he was arrested after dumping a bag containing a dead cat into a garbage bin.

According to defense attorney Rick Brooks, Farkas' problems began after he moved to Ottawa in January 1986 to start a new job. Brooks said Farkas had trouble meeting people and making friends and decided to adopt a kitten that November to ease his loneliness.

But Farkas left the kitten with an acquaintance while he was out of town at Christmas and returned to find that his although Farkas blamed himself for the kitten's death, he immediately went out and adopted another one.

But the second kitten wasn't as friendly as the first and Farkas felt "rejected" by the animal, according to the attorney.

Upset over the rejection, Farkas flew into a rage and strangled the helpless kitten, the lawyer said.

Later Farkas began stealing cats from front porches and backyards, torturing the pets by slowly strangling them tor Mac Lindsay. Most of the cats Farkas killed were stolen, but some were acquired from animal shelters or through newspaper ads placed by people looking for good homes for kittens, Lindsay said.

Shortly before his case was scheduled to go to trial Farkas pleaded guilty to a charge of killing a domestic animal, said authorities.

He was sentenced to three years' probation, fined $2,000 and ordered to perform 100 hours of community service in Calgary, where he now lives

Ornery lawman finally picked on the wrong guy!

By LAUREL BOWIE

Hotshot cop Khalid Dhondy terrorized trembling citizens day after day till a hare-brained Hindu guru got enough of his guff — and turned him into a screeching, flea-scratching cat!

Swami turns a cop into flea-bitten cat

He hides from dogs, chases mice & uses a litter box

"My husband still looks like a man, but he has the mind of a good-for-nothing tomcat," Khalid's weeping wife Gargi told reporters in little Varanghan, India.

"He runs around on all fours, meowing at me and rubbing against my legs. When our old dog comes around, Khalid slinks under the bed and hides. He sleeps on the floor in the corner and uses a litter box when he has to go. Our whole house is starting to smell bad because of him and his stinky habits.

"The doctor says it's some kind of power of suggestion that's got him. He says poor Khalid can be cured, but if they don't do something fast, I'll go crazy."

Cantankerous Khalid, 43, had been the lone lawman in Varanghan for 15 years — and he was far and away the most detested man in town.

"Khalid is a bully who loves to push people around and beat them with his stick just to show them who's boss," said vegetable merchant Vishiss Rath.

"He harasses honest citizens for no reason and puts people in jail when they've done nothing wrong. He terrifies everyone."

But the pompous policeman has been a purring pussycat since the day goofy guru Dilipbhai Rao came to town and Khalid tried to arrest him for singing in public.

"A weird-looking stranger was walking down the street humming and singing, and Khalid rushed up to him and told him to shut up," Rath recalled.

"The officer grabbed the stranger and they argued, and I heard the man say, 'Do you know who I am? I am Swami Rao and you are in very big trouble. You will live the rest of your life as a cat.'

"The man started talking to Khalid in very soft tones. All at once Khalid dropped to his hands and knees and I saw him run on all fours all the way to his home."

And for weeks now, the cop-turned-kittycat has been chasing birds, munching Meow Mix and fighting off imaginary fleas.

"He even dragged in a big old mouse the other day and I had to take it away from him," his weary wife recalled. "The doctors are working with him every day.

"I just hope they do it before he scampers out into the street and gets run over."

Life in the mob is deadly dull

Life in the mob is dull, dull dull!

That's the word from Joseph Pistone, an FBI agent who spent six years posing as a Mafia hood.

Pistone, who pretended to be a jewel thief named Donnie Brasco, managed to infiltrate the Bonanno crime family.

He said he quickly became bored with other Mafia figures who lived, breathed and slept crime.

"One thing I will never forget is the daily grind of trying to make a score that they face from the time they wake up in the morning to the time they go to sleep at night," Pistone told a Senate subcommittee on crime.

"The mob was their job as well as their whole life. What they did for a living was on their minds far more than it is with ordinary 'straight' citizens."

Grateful schoolkids file by coffin at Ralph Norman's funeral.

Kids honor hero who died saving their lives

By JACK ALEXANDER

Six saddened schoolkids showed up to honor heroic oldster Ralph Norman, who saved them from being crushed by a truck — and died doing it.

"I would be dead. I just want to have this moment to thank him," said Jency Alvarado, 9, one of the youngsters.

Norman, 76, pushed one child out of the way and yelled

The children escaped injury but Norman was killed in the accident.

Di's alarming reaction came atop the 240-foot tower at the Glasgow Garden Festival, an annual fair in the Scottish city she was attending with hubby Prince Charles.

Charles had turned away and was happily chatting away with local officials when the smile suddenly vanished from Di's face and she cringed in terror. It was minutes later before she was able to compose herself and smile again.

Shortly after at the Glasgow Cathedral, Di was still shaken. She suddenly buried her head in her hands and dodged out of sight behind a pillar.

Nervy lady gets Zsa Zsa's goat

A major tiff erupted when a minor TV personality on a Big Apple talk show burst into a dressing room where guest star Zsa Zsa Gabor was being made up.

Claudia Cohen, the gossip reporter for Regis Philbin's Morning Show in New York City, says she just wanted to see if Zsa Zsa was finished so she could get her makeup on, but the world-famed jet-setter flew into a tizzy showering her with insults.

"She left in a huff and stormed onto the set," says Claudia.

But Zsa Zsa claims Claudia was really a bully and far from the innocent she claims to be.

"In all my years, I've never met a ruder woman in the world — and I know everybody," said Zsa Zsa, still steaming over the incident.

According to Zsa Zsa, the whole mess began when she agreed to go on the show to help Regis out.

"Regis begged me to go on the show," said Zsa Zsa. "My agent says, 'Would you do Regis Philbin? His show is getting very dull.'

"I love him. He's one of my dearest friends.

"So I went as a favor."

The show had only one dressing room and Zsa Zsa was in it having her makeup put on, wearing just panty hose and a bra while her dress was being ironed.

Suddenly, in pokes the head of a stranger, Claudia, according to Zsa Zsa.

"I don't know who she is and I was half in the nude.

"She runs in and says, 'Get up,'" says Zsa Zsa.

"I said, 'Look, my dear, I'm getting on the show first and I'm not even dressed.' She tells me, 'Never mind, get up.'"

The nervy exchange totally unnerved poor Zsa Zsa who ran fuming onto the set.

"Regis, I've never been so insulted in my life.

"Who is that terrible bitch in the dressing room?" Zsa Zsa asked.

Zsa Zsa was so distraught over the incident that she forgot to plug her book One Lifetime Is Not Enough, new cosmetics line and even left her purse with her diamond earrings in it on the set.

"In all my life I would never talk even to the lowest of the low that way.

"I feel like giving her a good, swift kick," said the furious Hungarian blonde. — New York Post.

Kid star Kristy McNichol bares it in movie shocker

VIEWERS still remember Kristy when she was the innocent, 9-year-old "Buddy" on hit series "Family."

Eyes will be popping in movie theaters all over the country when Two Moon Junction hits the screen and shows America's cutie pie kid Kristy McNichol topless in a torrid love scene.

Kristy, whose career plunged from her TV superstar days as the pre-teen tomboy Buddy on Family to almost zero, is trying to shed her goody-goody image and become a big-screen sexpot.

"When I first read the script I thought, 'Wow! This character is cool.' I felt if I did this part, other directors and producers would know I'm more than just a wholesome, all-American tomboy."

Kristy plays a hairdresser with the habits of an alley cat in heat. In one scene, she doffs her blouse, giving the audience a glimpse of how much she's grown since Family. In another scene, she steams up the camera lens while making love with a carnival ride operator.

"I asked the director is there some way to film this so you can't see everything? I'm not taking off all my clothes."

As for Family fans who might be shocked, Kristy says: "It's been seven years since the show ended. I hope that people will understand that it's human nature to change and that I've grown up."

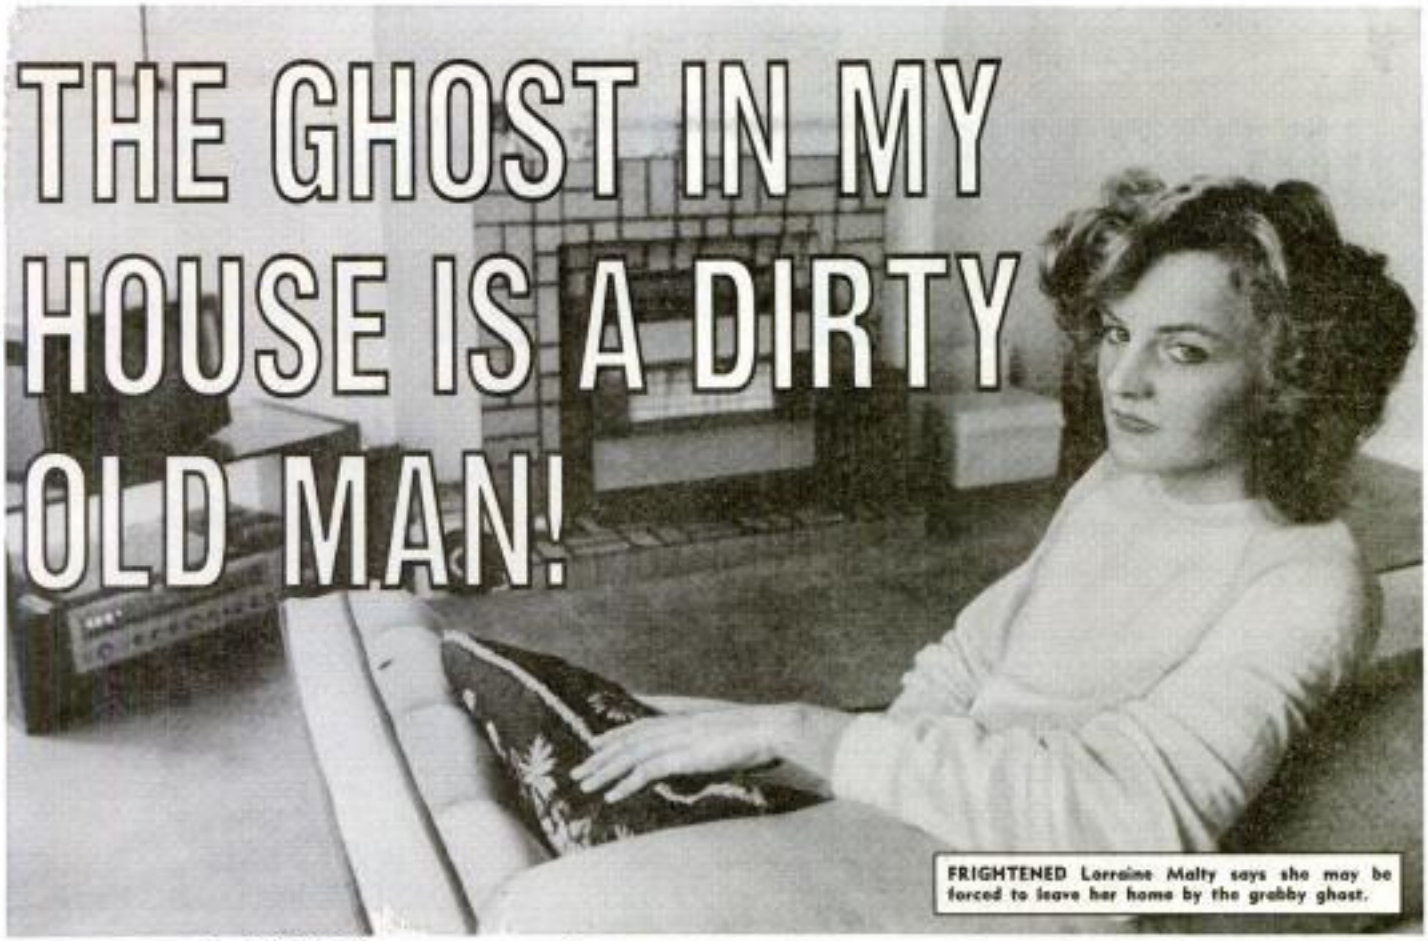
THE GHOST IN MY HOUSE IS A DIRTY OLD MAN!



FRIGHTENED Lorraine Malty says she may be forced to leave her home by the grabby ghost.

By JOE BERGER

Romeo spirit can't keep his hands to himself, says pretty divorcee

Desperate divorcee Lorraine Malty is ready to flee her home to escape the attentions of a grabby old ghost who sneaks into her bedroom — then crawls into bed and cuddles up next to her!

"He shows up at my bedside every morning, and sometimes he slides right under the covers with me," flabbergasted Lorraine, 21, told reporters in Portsmouth, England.

"He really is a nasty old thing, too. He loves to put his hands all over my body and I have to fight him off.

"He calls me Norma, and he says it like he's crying out for her. I figure Norma must be someone he was once in love with."

The mortified mom is so sick of the amorous apparition that she had Pastor Stephen Potter conduct a special mass in her home to try to drive the drooling spook away.

"I know this woman and I'm certain she's telling us the truth," Pastor Potter said later.

"We wouldn't have wasted all that time if we didn't believe every word she says. Unfortunately, I'm afraid the chap is still coming around and bothering her."

The Romeo ghost started haunting the home Lorraine shares with her 19-month-old daughter Holly several weeks ago.

"He looks like a man about 90 years old — but there's no doubt that he's not of this world," she said. "He's very eerie.

"At first he came around in the mornings and just stood by the side of the bed, then vanished. But lately he's gotten a lot braver and he's started climbing into bed with me.

"The first time he cuddled up to me I was so scared I lay real still and eventually he went away. Now I kick and slap at him and that usually is enough to send him packing."

And when he isn't trying to make sweet music with Lorraine, the frisky phantom loves to sit down and bang out a tune on her electric organ.

"He plays the same weird melody over and over again," said the frustrated lady. "It's enough to drive you crazy."

And she's convinced the mischievous spirit stops to play with happy-go-lucky Holly on occasion, too.

"Sometimes I'll go into the baby's room and she'll be wriggling and giggling like he's tickling her," said the mystified mom.

"I can't see him doing it, but I know he is.

"And several times Holly has told me about the nice man who comes to visit her. I think she actually likes our dirty old ghost."

Don't ever pick up a phone again!

By PETE COOKE

A man accused of calling as many as 200 women to make bizarre sexual demands has been ordered not to use the telephone again for the rest of his life!

Donald Jackley, a 28-year-old airport baggage handler, was jailed for six months in Bloomington, Ind., and ordered never to pick up a

Galvin said the unusual sentence was part of plea-bargaining agreement in which Jackley pleaded guilty to a charge of intimidation.

Galvin said the strange case began when Jackley's supervisor at Michiana Regional Airport in South Bend became suspicious about a phone bill and called police. South Bend authorities dialed the numbers listed on the bill and got an earful.

broke into your parents' house and I'm going to kill your mother and father unless you do what I tell you,' " the prosecutor said.

"Then he would demand that the victims talk dirty to him over the phone or order them to perform sexual acts," Galvin said. "Most refused to do what he wanted and hung up."

Galvin said some of the calls may have been dialed randomly.

of his victims from the identification tags on suitcases he handled at the airport.

The case against Jackley was filed in Bloomington because that's where some women received calls from him, authorities said.

"We'd like to be able to beat him over the head, but it's one of those cases that tend to fall through the cracks in the system," Galvin said.

The judge gave Jackley a

HOW AGNES C. WON OVER $500,000 WITH THE WORDS FOR WINNING CONTESTS!

Agnes C. was told about enchantments and spells, but insisted that she possessed no psychic powers and never had any psychic experiences. Here's what happened: she kept dreaming of a man in a flowing robe with dollar signs all over it, holding up 7 fingers, saying: "A dollar a day keeps poverty away!" She purchased a one-dollar lottery ticket.

"I simply could not believe it when my number was drawn for the grand prize (7 days later). I still can't believe it," she says. "I won over a half-million dollars." Agnes and her family are now enjoying their new lakefront home with its private boathouse and dock. They have two expensive autos and all the other luxuries money can buy.

The point is: YOU CAN USE THE SAME SECRET! You'll find the very words she used on page 37 of my book, and it won't cost you a single cent to find out what they are, and how they'll work for you.

MAGIC WORDS FOR MIRACLE HEALING!

Before I tell you how YOU may achieve a MIRACLE HEALING, let me tell you how a man was healed of arthritis in FIFTEEN MINUTES! A friend of mine, Louie A., tried the power Ritual for Magnetic Healing on page 146 on his next-door neighbor, Ken, who was confined to a wheelchair with arthritis. In a matter of minutes, the crippled man was WALKING! "I haven't been able to walk for months," he said, "and you got me out of my wheelchair."

Since that day, Louie has been able to heal "incurable" diseases! AND YOU CAN DO THE VERY SAME THING! This is just an average case. With this power, you can command healings like this on almost a daily basis. I'm telling you this power is FANTASTIC.

Look what you can do, with exact words I give you on page 139-140—

- Cure ulcers, nervous headache, and insomnia! Calm the nerves!
- Cure diseases of the liver and spleen—stop bleeding!
- Strengthen the eyes, control epilepsy and disorders of the stomach!
- Cure heart disease, increase circulation, and heal gout!
- Heal burns, conditions of the nose, throat and sinus, treat hay fever and asthma!

. . . and much more! With these words, you ask great rays of healing power to enfold you, pulsating within every nerve and cell of your body, cleansing, soothing and healing! Whatever you are trying to heal, you know the job will be done.

MIRACLE CURES REPORTED!

Do you realize that it is possible to get rid of crippling ailments almost instantly with healing words? You can command that all sickness and disease be banished from your body! Here is a force so powerful that it almost defies description! It can heal a withered limb or return sight to the blind . . . raise the crippled from their beds! It has brought miracle cures to the suffering and the lame!

● KIDNEYS MIRACULOUSLY HEALED! Evelina's only hope was to find a suitable kidney donor. She was so weak, it took two people to almost carry her to the hospital for her frequent treatments. There seemed to be little hope for her. With this method, she says—

"My whole body began to tingle—it felt like little electric shocks were playing games at the small of my back . . . suddenly . . . I knew I was healed! I leapt from my bed and ran into the living room screaming, 'I'M HEALED, I'M HEALED!' Our house was filled with tears of joy that night."

Today she is so healthy, she can hike and even climb mountains! It happens all the time with PSYCHIC TELEMETRY!

● HOW HARVEY C.'s ASTHMA WAS CURED! Harvey C. suffered asthma all his life. He could never run more than a few steps, without gasping for breath. Doctors were unable to cure it. I was so positive Harvey's asthma could be cured, I merely had him say the words on page 139-140. He never had another asthma attack! Now he can run and even play tennis!

● HAROLD SAW HIS LUNG SPOT VANISH! Harold F. was shocked, when told he had a spot on his lung, and needed an immediate operation. His wife quickly used the amazing healing words on page 145. The day before the operation, when x-rays were taken, the doctor was baffled. "I don't know how to explain this," he said. "Your lungs are perfectly clear."

MAGIC FORCES THAT WORK MIRACLES

Once you call on them, powerful forces stand ready to fulfill your every command. You can be confident that they will work a miracle.

● HOW ALLEN F. WON $800 AT THE CRAP TABLE AFTER USING THE MAGIC WORDS ON PAGE 36! Allen F. needed $800 by Monday morning. It was Friday already, and things looked hopeless. He's never been inside a gambling casino and knew nothing about roulette, craps, or blackjack, but he had a strange urge to try it. With only $1, he said the magic words on page 22, turned silently, and headed for the craps table. He threw the dice, and it came up 7. He tried it again and again. A crowd gathered. The dice were changed, but he kept throwing 7's. He walked away with $800!

Anyone can use these magic words. When you use them, what you command does happen! You can count positively on real results. It always works! It is not evil—nor is it Black Magic. Like electricity, it is simply a power given by nature to make life easier!

● MAGIC WORDS GIVE YOU POWER OVER OTHERS! Say the magic words on page 44 to make others do your bidding. With this Enchantment, you send forth mystic rays of power to impress those whom you command to bend to your will at all times. It makes other people like putty in your hands! No one can resist you! Let me show you how easily this happens!

To use this power is simplicity itself! Say the magic words—then just sit back and relax. Within seconds, minutes at most, you will have a willing, obedient slave!

You can stand next to a person and place a thought in his or her mind. When others are asleep, you are free to speak directly to their subconscious mind. Your voice is remembered upon awakening. People obey your commands. It's fantastic!

● MAGIC WORDS THAT BRING YOU LOVE! Say the magic words on page 47, to command and guide the perfect partner to you . . . to command him or her to be blind to your shortcomings, and fulfill your every need and your every desire!

● MAGIC WORDS FOR SECRET KNOWLEDGE! The magic words on page 164 allow you to become an invisible traveler to anywhere in the world. You can listen to conversations and you can see what's going on, completely undetected. You will experience the ability to walk through walls and doors. Nothing can be kept secret from you—there is no longer such a thing as a locked door. You can enter any place at will. If you wish to know about others, you can secretly and invisibly watch their every move and hear their every word!

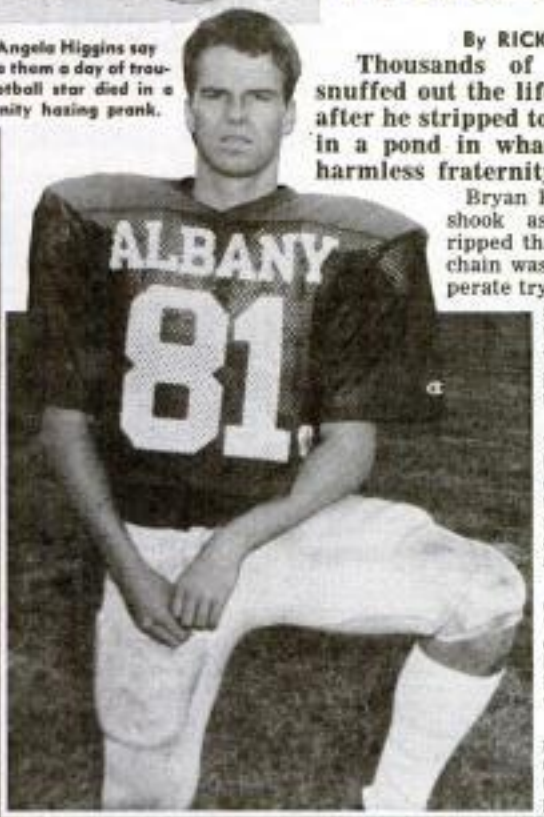
PARENTS SHATTERED IN WAKE OF HIGH-VOLTAGE HORROR

GRIEVING parents Patrick and Angela Higgins say their son Bryan, right, never gave them a day of trouble. The 20-year-old college football star died in a tragic accident during a fraternity hazing prank.

College student electrocuted in fraternity prank

By RICK LANNING

Thousands of volts of electricity snuffed out the life of a college student after he stripped to his shorts and waded in a pond in what was meant to be a harmless fraternity prank.



Bryan Higgins, 20, screamed and shook as the powerful current ripped through his body. A human chain was quickly formed in a desperate try to rescue him. Two other students were shocked in the effort. City firemen were eventually able to pull Higgins' lifeless body to shore.

Although officials at State University of New York in Albany claimed the accidental death did not involve hazing, they immediately banned all fraternity and sorority pledge activities for the rest of the school year.

Vincent Sweeney, director of campus relations, said, "Hazing involves some type of coercion or activity that has a hint of danger. It's against the law in New York and that isn't what these kids were doing.

"It was meant to be a prank, a macho thing. The water was cold, around 40 degrees, and the fraternity members stripped down to their shorts to wade in it. The accident could have happened under any circumstances."

Campus police blamed an electrical fault in a major feeder that led from a pump house to the pond. Water from the pond was used to irrigate the lawn.

No charges will be lodged against any members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, said Sweeney.

Albany County District Attorney Sol Greenberg, who teaches law at the university, said his investigation revealed no criminal intent on the part of the students.

"Two of the kids, Scott Payne and Vincent Mancino, were shocked trying to rescue him," said Greenberg.

"It was a terrible tragedy. Bryan was a well-known athlete and was very popular.

"These are sharp kids here — some of the best-behaved students in the state. They feel like they've lost a member of their own family."

Bryan was fatally shocked when he walked over the central part of the fault.

"The second his feet hit the ground over the short, he grounded himself and the electricity shot through him," said Greenberg.

"There wasn't anything anybody could do."

Bryan had been a defensive back, wide receiver and team captain with his high school team, the Mahopac Indians. He was voted the most valuable player in 1985.

Bryan's mother Angela Higgins said, "He was a wonderful son. He never gave me a day's trouble."

Greenberg said the freak accident that cost Bryan his life may have been triggered by a storm last October 4.

"A freak storm hit the area with heavy wet snow and ice. A major tree was uprooted and may have caused the conduit that carried the power to short out.

"It's just tragic this had to happen."

Will county give flasher park job?

A man who says he has exposed himself in public as many as 20,000 times shouldn't be denied an outdoor job with the county parks department since he only flashes indoors, state labor officials ruled.

Britton McKenzie, 41, won the first round of his battle to land a county job in Madison, Wis., when state labor department officials agreed with his claim of discrimination.

In an interview with The Wisconsin State Journal last year, McKenzie said he'd exposed himself 10,000 to 20,000 times.

In fact, at the time he applied for jobs with the Dane County Parks Department and the Department of Public Works, McKenzie was in jail for lewd and lascivious behavior.

County attorney Judith Toole said McKenzie was turned down for the jobs because he would be "in constant view of the public" and "admittedly cannot control his exhibitionist behavior."

State equal rights officer Laurie Roulean, however, ruled that since McKenzie's flashing took place indoors, his criminal record should have no bearing on outdoor employment. McKenzie and the county officials were instructed to resolve their differences through negotiation.

Swallows' tell-tail sign of love

It's official: Lady barn swallows find long-tailed males sexier than short-tailed males.

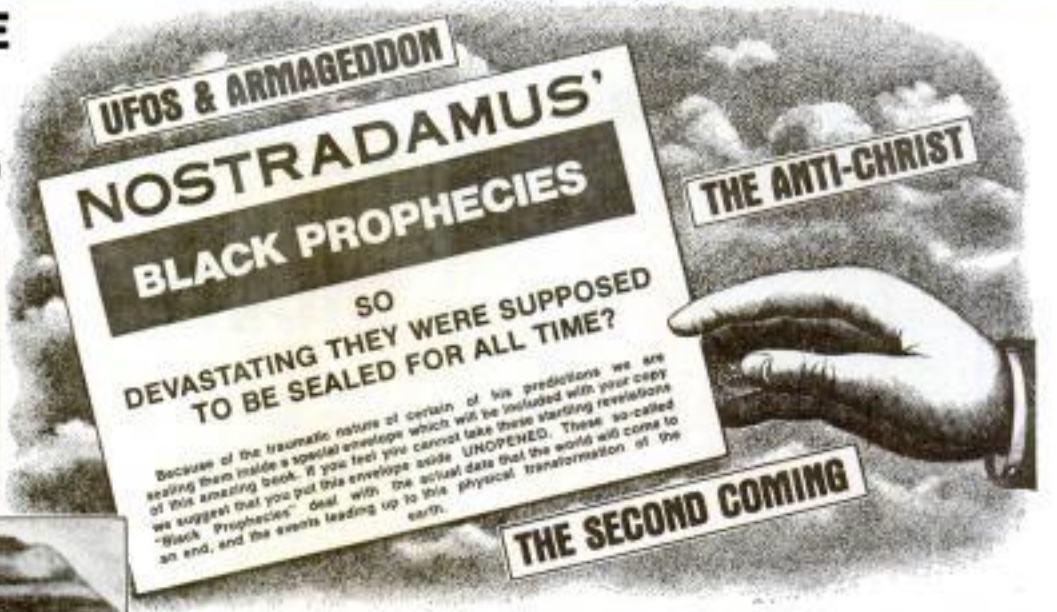
It took a Swedish scientist 17 years of study to reach that startling conclusion. But Anders Moller of the University of Uppsala says it's the first evidence that monogamous birds choose partners on the basis of physical charms.

Moller said his years of research proved that among barn swallows, it takes short-tailed males four times as long as it takes long-tailed males to find a mate. "It's interesting to see that lady birds look for a handsome husband just like human ladies do," the scientist said.

MAJOR EVENTS OF THE FUTURE REVEALED!

AN EXCLUSIVE HISTORICAL FIRST! HIS UNPUBLISHED PROPHECIES

DARE YOU READ THEM?



WAS HE A WIZARD? A SERVANT OF GOD? A SUPER PSYCHIC? A DEVIL WORSHIPPER? OR A BEING FROM ANOTHER PLANET

HIS PREDICTIONS WERE 100% ACCURATE

Nostradamus is credited with being the greatest prophet of modern, non-Biblical, times. His uncanny, indepth, forecasts are considered to be highly accurate. Nostradamus, in the 16th century, predicted both World Wars, aerial battles, submarine attacks, Hitler's aggressions, and escape, as well as the assassination of both Kennedys'.

The seer warned the world of the coming of the atomic bomb. He wrote of space flights, and about the rise and fall of Russia. In one of his most amazing predictions he revealed how Iran would be taken over by a religious fanatic writing the following in rhymed quatrains: "Revolution, famine, war will not stop Persia (now Iran). Religious fanaticism will betray the monarch (the Shah). Of which the end will begin in Gaul (France)." Everybody knows that the Ayatollah Khomeini started his revolution while exiled in France.

For the future, Nostradamus predicts that there will be war in the Middle East in the next five years, during which the big powers will intervene. He even talks of the coming of the anti-Christ and how the U.S. and Russia will combine forces, if only for a brief period. He also speaks of a "religious war" and the Vatican's having to move the tomb of St. Peter to a safe place.

But, perhaps most astonishing of all, is the fact that Nostradamus saw his own death in time to help with the funeral arrangements!

THE MOST MYSTERIOUS MAN WHO EVER LIVED

Legend has it that celestial activity was extremely powerful for several nights before the birth of Nostradamus. Reports of bright, round

Nostradamus' birth itself was rather remarkable because Blanche Nostredame (the family's real name), presented her husband with a perfect baby. In the 16th Century, perfect babies were almost unheard of. The mortality rate was very high.

He had an incredible intellect. He was very young when he mastered several languages and advanced math. He became a licensed physician at 23. He walked among plague victims for months without catching the dread disease. With a strange mixture of herbs and ingredients unknown to the world, he was able to cure many of the afflicted, thus becoming known throughout Europe as a miracle healer.

In his day, Nostradamus made friends with kings and queens who were impressed by his ability to see into the future. Royalty came far and wide to be in his presence, so anxious were they to know what the stars had in store for them. Many were disappointed as Nostradamus knew well in advance about beheadings, revolutions, and the unfaithfulness that abounded among society's most prominent figures.

THE SECOND COMING & THE ANTICHRIST

Though Nostradamus considered himself an expert astrologer, he studied the stars in a totally unique way. He used a special device when scribing. The device was basically a magic wand which he used in conjunction with a tripod of flame and bowl of water. Nostradamus also considered himself a very religious person, and while he was born a Jew, he later converted to the Catholic faith, utilizing mystical elements from both practices in his work. Many of his

There are some who maintain that Nostradamus was a direct messenger of God, and that his predictions were divinely inspired. To give credence to this claim, the French seer was once introduced to a young Franciscan friar, a poor village lad, and upon meeting the youth dropped to his knees. Asked why he had done so, Nostradamus declared: "Because, I must bow and kneel before his Holiness." Years later, this youth became the Pope, under the title of Sixtus the Fifth.

Others believe that Nostradamus was a time traveler from the future, or perhaps a being from another planet. All these theories are explored in detail.

NOSTRADAMUS' UNPUBLISHED QUATRAINS

A curious manuscript has been making the rounds of Europe where books on Nostradamus have been frequent best sellers in recent months. Up till now none of this material has been released in the U.S.

Shortly before his death, Nostradamus apparently penned a series of prophecies so startling that he never had them included in any of his published works. Supposedly because he was afraid of the effect they might have. These predictions were circulated only to royalty and were thought destroyed for many years until they were uncovered, hidden in the basement of the house where Nostradamus died.

The title page of this newly discovered manuscript reads: "Century XII, Number 63." The seer's last supposedly quatrain, published, was "Century XII, Number 62." The assumption is that Nostradamus wrote determined, there are a total of 21 or more pages to his original prophecies that have only now been translated and interpreted.

These are just a few of the provocative subjects dealt with in this new material:

- The reappearance of Jesus to the world.
- Mysterious wonders in the sky turn out to be a friendly invasion of alien beings from other worlds in space.
- Rare knowledge which will lead to the elimination of disease and sickness.
- New inventions far superior to anything currently in use on this planet.
- A terrible war in space.
- The time when night becomes day.
- The destruction of the Catholic church and the last Pope.
- The great earthquake which will kill many.
- Riots in the streets of many great cities.
- Gold missing from Fort Knox.

Indeed, no prophet has ever lived who knew more about the future than did Nostradamus. With the world's current state of affairs, mountains, international tensions, and the realization that these are the "Last Days" the Bible speaks, of, you cannot afford to miss reading NOSTRADAMUS' UNTOLD STORY: HIS UNPUBLISHED PREDICTIONS (not sold in bookstores, order using coupon below).

Mind-boggling discovery

Mummy proves Chinese beat Columbus to America by 800 years!

ORIENTAL MUMMY, along with the remains of two horses, a chariot and maps of China and Peru, was discovered at an archaeological site in South America.

The discovery of a Chinese mummy in Peru proves that Asian ships sailed to the Americas 800 years before Europeans even thought about coming to the New World!

"The Spanish and the Portuguese think of themselves as the world's greatest early explorers but nothing could be further from the truth," Axel Klaebel, the archaeologist, told reporters in Aarhus, Denmark.

By IRWIN FISHER

"The Chinese were centuries ahead of them. This mummy proves that they had the ships, the intelligence, the courage and the will to reach South America in the year 700.

"The Spanish and Portuguese at that time still thought the world was flat. They were terrified to sail too far for fear of falling off the edge of the earth."

Dr. Klaebel discovered the Chinese mummy at an archaeological dig east of Lima in April. The mummy is thought to be that of a man who died of a severe viral infection in his early 30s.

He was buried with the remains of two horses, a chariot and highly detailed maps of both China and Peru.

"It would appear that this young explorer had no intentions of sailing back to China," said the expert. "In fact there is some evidence to show that he actually tried to set himself up as king of Peru's Indian population.

"Bits of pottery found along with his body show Indian women bowing before an Oriental man on a throne."

The rise of South America's Inca empire was still hundreds of years away. But Dr. Klaebel speculated that the seeds of the Inca civilization might have been sown by the Chinese explorer.

"This young man," he added, "just might have given South America the greatest civilization that it has ever known."

Dr. Klaebel plans a return trip to Peru to search for more evidence of Oriental influence in the New World.

"We are particularly interested in finding one of the boats they used to cross the Pacific Ocean," explained the expert.

Singing telegram was a stickup

A bank robber with a flair for show biz pulled off one of the most bizarre heists ever when he showed up at a bank to deliver a singing telegram, gathered the tellers together and then robbed them.

The crook arrived at the Savings of America bank in Kansas City, Missouri, carrying a flower-and-balloon bouquet and requested that the staff gather together for his singing telegram.

Then the man pulled out a sawed-off shotgun and ordered them to empty their cash drawers. He is still on the lam.

Ex-owners ruined by estate's evil forces

WILL MANSION'S CURSE TOPPLE TYCOON COUPLE?

MAGNIFICENT Dunnellen Hall, above, in posh Greenwich, Conn., is said to be haunted. Each of the mansion's previous owners has suffered crippling setbacks. The present residents, Leona and Harry Helmsley, left, have been indicted on 235 counts of tax evasion.

By RAFE KLINGER

Billionaire real estate baron Harry Helmsley and his wife Leona have been indicted on tax evasion charges and some people believe their bad luck is part of the curse of Dunnellen Hall — the magnificent, English-style mansion they live in.

Incredibly, most of the owners of the $11 million plus estate in posh Greenwich, Conn., have lost their fortunes or died after moving into the luxurious 28-room, 14-bedroom manorial home sitting on 26 wooded acres.

"It's kind of been bad luck for people who lived there," said Ben Rowe, chairman of Preferred Properties Inc., a Greenwich real estate firm that twice handled sales of Dunnellen Hall.

"In a way, the curse story is true. The only guy that came out whole was Richard Treibeck and he never lived there. But Jack O'Brien, his partner, did and a few years later, he died."

The Helmsleys bought Dunnellen in 1983 for $11 million and since then have made costly additions including an indoor pool and a supersophisticated security system.

"They've done a lot of work there," said Rowe. "My God, the place is a fortress. You walk on the grass and bells ring and lights go on. It's astonishing."

Recently, the bells rung for the Helmsleys when New York and federal grand juries indicted them on 235 counts of tax evasion. They were charged with fraudulently billing their businesses for $4 million in personal expenses. Some $1 million of those expenses reportedly included the pool at Dunnellen Hall. But the bad luck experienced by the Helmsleys seems typical of the owners of Dunnellen Hall. Built in 1918 for $1 million by the president of American Tin Plate Co., it was given as a wedding gift to his daughter, who named the home after her mom Ella Dunn.

The first sale of the mansion was in 1950 to Loring Washburn, president of a steel company. He lost the home 13 years later due to financial troubles.

Other owners included:

Tax woes threaten real estate titan's empire

● O'Brien, a real estate speculator, and his partner Treibeck. Treibeck escaped the curse, but he never lived there. O'Brien did and died.

● Gregg Sherwood Dodge, the auto company heiress, and her husband Daniel Moran, a former policeman. Moran shot and killed a busboy climbing into the bedroom window of their Florida home. It was ruled justifiable homicide.

Years later, Moran killed himself.

● Investor Jack Dick purchased Dunnellen from Mr. Moran. Owner of a magnificent collection of costly English horse paintings, he was indicted for fraud and later died.

● Oil tanker tycoon Ravi Tikkoo also was an owner and resident of Dunnellen Hall.

He lost much of his fortune in the 1970s OPEC oil embargo.

Coeds cheer guys' nude basketball game

More than 100 gawking coeds booed when cops broke up a late-night basketball game between a group of guys — who were stark naked.

The squealing girls had their eyes glued to the ball game until some fuss-budget in the women's dorm called the law.

About 10 men attending the University of North Carolina stripped down and started playing around 10 p.m. in Granville Towers to realize what was going on.

They cheered from their dorm windows as the boys pranced about. But the nude guys quickly stopped dribbling and did a little traveling when they saw the flashing red lights of a

More and more couples are staging marriage-in-reverse ceremonies to take the sting out of divorce!

Taking directions from a mediator, a parting husband and wife hold hands, thank each other for the good times they shared and agree to part as friends, often with a hug.

"They may say offensive things to each other at first but they usually end up holding each other in tears," said Sheila Davis, a divorce court officer in Birmingham, England

"It helps them untie the emotional knot and makes them realize what a serious step they are taking. I often end up crying as well.

"It would be a lovely ceremony to hold in church," she added, "but the Church is still very old-fashioned about divorce."

Mrs. Davis felt the pain of her own divorce a few years ago and devised the marriage-in-reverse ceremony to help others overcome their bitterness. She conducts ceremonies in her office and begins by asking them to say: "Goodbye."

Convicted DWI gets free ride

A judge refused to send a convicted drunk driver to jail because he couldn't find a security officer to lock the guy up!

"We waited for 15 minutes for security officers but none showed up," said Provincial Judge Lorenzo DiCecco, of Toronto, Canada.

"Finally I said, 'I can't send this man to jail.' The man said, 'What am I supposed to do?' And I said, 'Go home. I'm not going to sign the warrant of committal.'"

Judge DiCecco said the incident illustrated the problems courts face in the wake of security cutbacks.

"It's not up to my clerk to put handcuffs" on criminals, he said.

The 3 Stooges are NOT dumb-heads!

Editors: I know you people have to sell papers to stay in business, but why do you have to do it by making fun of wonderful people like the Three Stooges?

In your May 17 edition, you took up an entire page saying how dumb the Stooges are and anybody who watches them is dumb, too. Well, I happen to love Larry, Moe and Curly. I think they are maybe the greatest entertainers of all time.

And I am NOT dumb.

I have a high school degree and I'm a licensed beautician.

So next time keep your stupid opinions to yourself. — P.D., New Orleans, La.

This just goes to show that even licensed beauticians can make mistakes. Read that story again — go real slow and use your index finger if it helps — and you'll see we were taking our licks at that nasty Moammar Gadhafi, not your beloved Stooges.

But don't worry about it. We can see how somebody who thinks the Three Stooges are the greatest entertainers of all time might get a bit confused. — Editors

Cops shouldn't bust old lady dope user

Editors: I just read the story in your April 10 Weekly World NEWS about the lady with glaucoma who was growing marijuana for medicinal purposes. It was revolting how the police persecuted this lady for treating her illness. Do the police want this lady to go blind?

I, too, take narcotics for medicinal purposes. They help alleviate the severe depression and lack of energy from which I suffer.

Although my physician would not give me a prescription, I need my medication to do the simplest daily tasks, such as reading the stories in your fine publication.

The only difference between me and the lady in the story is I'm not into horticulture and don't grow my own medicine.

Hey, I'm too sick to worry about Davy Crockett's Victory Garden! I get my prescription filled through a large, unemployed man named Oscar. Oh well, it's time to take my daily dose of medicine. — R.A., Beecher, Ill.

Oh, you know Oscar? We happen to know him, too. But he's not unemployed — he's just undercover right now. Hope that isn't bad news. — Editors

What happened to the French playboy?

Editors: I love your paper because the stories you run prove just how crazy we members of the human race really are.

I especially liked the story about Leslie Lavialle and Sarah Kraemer, the two women who had a knock-down-drag-out brawl when both of them showed up at the church to marry the same man (Weekly World NEWS, May 3).

I'd sure love a follow-up on that one. Did Philippe Rioni, the fickle French playboy, wind up marrying one of the girls? What's he doing now? — E.C. Fayetteville, Ark.

The flirty fellow's still running, last we heard — and he's still having nightmares about ax murderesses in white gowns. — Editors

I'm fat, failed and 40, but I'm looking for love

Send letters to: Dotti, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462

Dear Dotti: I've always had a weight problem and everyone tells me about it, so I'm very self-conscious about my big body. Because I'm so fat, I've never really had a boyfriend. Now I'm middle-aged and in a panic because I want a guy to look at me and say, "Ummm."

I won't go anywhere in public any more because every guy says, "Hey, Big Momma," when I go by so I can't even try for a date at any of the places my girlfriends go. And as for looking for a guy where I work, the boss keeps me in the stockroom where the customers won't have to see me.

I talked about my weight with my sister-in-law but she only says she has never been this big, and when I tried talking to my mom, she just said she was bigger than me. So I feel that I'm a very alone person and I need help. — Miss Piggy, Oklahoma

Dear Miss Piggy: Good news, Sweetie. Top docs now say pudgy poundage is not from naughty doughnut gobbling but a sluggish metabolism, so let's go for the Big and Gorgeous Look.

erywhere; smile and wink at every guy, cute or not — and in a year you'll still be 40 but no one will notice that you're still fat.

Will my little grandsons grow up to be sissies?

Dear Dotti: You really get to the heart of the matter, so you'd better tell me straight on this: Is my daughter-in-law making sissies out of my little grandsons by letting them sleep in her bed with her? — Grandly Concerned in Queens, New York

Dear Grandly Concerned: Let's just say she's not making self-assured, masculine, adjusted, straight little guys out of the limp-wristed babies.

Now I'm with a wonderful man but it worries me that he always wants to do these wild things in bed and it scares me. He thinks I'm wrong for not wanting to do what he wants me to.

Anyway, I saw the first man a couple of weeks ago and he wants me back. I really want to go with him, but in the process I don't want to hurt the man I'm living with. — Double Trouble, Ohio

Dear Double Trouble: Somebody's bound to get hurt in this switcheroo, honey, and it could be you. Why don't you just sit down and read a sensible sex education book?

I'll keep my 18-year-old sweetie-pie out of jail

Dear Dotti: I'm living with the father of my baby girl. But about a year ago I met a guy who's in jail.

He's 18 but I've always had good luck with younger guys. He told me baby, but I have told him I love him and I know I could keep him out of trouble. — Named Twice, New York

Dear Named Twice: A teenager right out of jail doesn't make a good daddy for another guy's kid. And you're in double trouble if you keep fooling yourself that you're more than a passing fancy for this jailbird puppy.

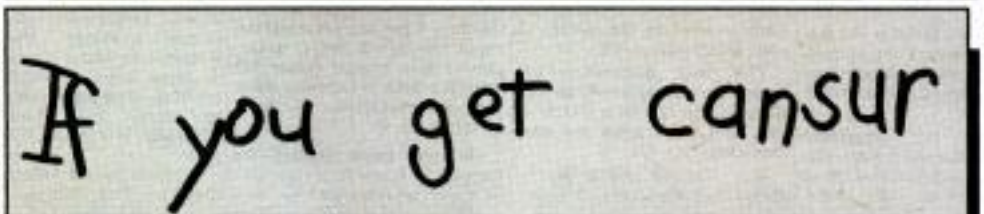
CANCER patient Jason Gaes, now 10, right, wrote a book for other tragic youngsters like himself.



Brave cancer boy's book of hope

By DICK DONOVAN

Cancer victim Jason Gaes' mom read him a book written by another cancer kid who died before the book was finished — and it made Jason very angry!

"Why does everyone who has cancer die in these books?" 6-year-old Jason demanded to know.

Well, now there is a book where everyone doesn't die and it's full of hope, help and humor and it was written by Jason. He called it My book for kids with cansur.

The words, the spelling and the punctuation are Jason's, simple and straight from the heart of a gutsy kid who has faced the frightening reality of "keymotharupy," "toomers," "radiashun" and "meddsin that drips out of a needle in your arm called an IV or a shot in your back called a spinal."

And in his little-boy way, Jason gets his message across to other kids who are now going through what he did before he licked his own "cansur." In the book he writes:

"If you get cansur dont be scared cause lots of people get over having cansur and grow up without dying . . . like President Reagan and me . . ."

"Sometime keymotharupy can make you sick and you throw up. Sometimes you looz your hair from it but you can wear hats if it bothers you . . .

"When your bald you dont have to worry about getting shampoo in your eyes . . .

"If you can find it get a poster that says Help me to remember Lord that nothing is gonna happen today that you and me can't handle together. Then hang it in your room and read it at night when your scared . . ."

Jason, who lives in Worthington, Minn., with his family — parents Craig and Geralyn, brothers Tim and Adam and baby sister Melissa — was diagnosed in 1984 as having Burkitt's lymphoma, a fast-growing cancer common in Africa but rare in America. He had a 10-inch tumor in his tummy, and tumors in his mouth, his head and two on his right kidney. His mom and dad were told if chemotherapy didn't work, their son could be dead in two weeks.

But Jason made it through those first terrifying two weeks. Then came a month of radiation, surgery to remove the stomach tumor and 22 agonizing months of chemotherapy every two weeks in the Mayo Clinic, a three-hour drive from his home.

Now, at the age of 10, Jason has been cancer-free for just over two years, and his prognosis is excellent.

Nevertheless, Jason must live with the grim reality that someday more tumors may crop up. In fact, he dedicated his book to Sister Margaret, a nun, "cause wer'e both waiting to see if our cansurs come back."

He gets that point across beautifully in his book:

"Sometimes even if you do everything just like everybody else a pees of your cansur can break off and go to your lungs and grow there. If the drs can't get it out then your probly gonna die when your a kid.

"My mom said when me and Tim was babys in her stumick we liked it in there so good the dr had to give my mom a shot to make us come out. But now that I'm outside I wouldnt never want to go back.

"She says going to heaven is probly like that. Once we get there we won't want to come back here. We'r just scared about going to heaven because we never been there."

To order "My book for kids with cansur," send $13.45 to Melius & Peterson Publishing, Box 925, Aberdeen, S.D. 57402. (A part of Curiously, animals rarely if ever suffer more than short-lived nausea and diarrhea from the virus and develop total immunity within days. "In humans the virus runs a different course," said Dr. de Gonta. "Instead of focusing on the digestive tract it attacks muscle tissue throughout the body.

"It invades individual cells and generates gases so rapidly that the body cannot absorb them. Victims swell to the bursting point and explode."

Death is agonizing, said Dr. de Gonta, because patients are usually conscious when they blow up. The expert has called on health officials throughout the world to study the virus, find out its mode of transmission and a cure.

"We've seen 700 cases in Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia and Peru since the beginning of the year and 25 to 50 new cases crop up every week," said Dr. de Gonta.

"There's no doubt that the virus will become an international problem if we don't soon find a cure. It is the new AIDS," he added.

"I don't want to cause a panic, but that's exactly what it is."

The bridesmaid was a real bow-wow!

By JOE BERGER

Starry-eyed bride Elaine Alexander is so mad about her mutts Monty and Tara that when she got hitched the hounds stood right by her side — as her page and bridesmaid!

"It was absolutely the weirdest wedding I've ever been involved in," said county registrar Patricia Cooper, who pronounced Elaine and her loverboy Les Smith man and wife in Birmingham, England.

"Those dogs were cute, but it was a little strange to have them serve as the entire wedding party."

Monty the springer spaniel sported a spiffy maroon suit, a velvet bow tie and a hangdog look in his eye.

And Tara the German shepherd made a howlingly beautiful bridesmaid in her necklace of pink and white carnations.

elated Elaine, 33. "After all, these guys are my best friends in the whole world."

Later the animal-crazy lady let new hubby Les, 37, know just where the pampered pooches fit into her life — and just where he stands, too.

"My dogs come first — even before Les," she said. "Les understands that they've been with me a lot longer than he has."

The easygoing groom, an interior decorator, seemed resigned to his role as runner-up for his lady's love.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Blocks calorie absorption

SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a study of a test group, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested in Sweden at Sahlgren Hospital, University of Goteborg. Again, all patients lost a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, preventing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat. The result is rapid body weight loss. Extensive clinical tests have verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of customer files revealed hundreds of people who have lost up to 10 pounds the first week and as much as 20, 40 or 60 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This is a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $29.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. To assure fastest service, orders are accepted by toll-free phone only. VISA, Master Card, Amex and C.O.D. orders are accepted. C.O.D.'s are $2.00 extra. Orders may be placed by calling Anderson Pharmacals TOLL-FREE 1-800-228-3131. During this special phone order promotion purchasers of a six-week supply of Cal-Ban 3000 will receive, absolutely free, a beautiful 24" double strand necklace of sparkling Chinese Faux pearls.

Miracle surgery offers new hope for 'ugly duckling' girl

All I want is a normal face

By ROSE GRADY

The miracle of modern surgery is slowly transforming tragic "ugly duckling" Michelle Willis into something she never dared to dream she could be — a beautiful swan!

And after years of work, doctors are turning her into a 'beautiful swan'

NOW Michelle is engaged to be married to Michael Potts, right. That's her mom Linda and dad Thomas in the background.

And today, 21-year-old Michelle, who used to look in the mirror and cry her heart out because she believed she was too ugly for anyone to love, is engaged to be married.

Michelle, who lives with her mother in Sunderland, England, was born with only half a face. She had only one eye, half a skull and she was missing one cheek, had a crooked neck, a bent nose and one ear was higher than the other.

"When she was born, the nurses wouldn't let me look at her for three days," devoted mom Linda, 38, recalled. "They kept a blanket covering one side of her face.

"And when I did peek at her, I wept and thought, 'This thing can't be mine.'

"I wanted to push her away. But then I hugged her close and her tiny finger gripped mine, and I whispered to her, 'You're mine, and I love you.'"

And from that heart-tugging moment on, the courageous battle to transform an ugly duckling into a beautiful swan was on.

Here are just some of the amazing operations gutsy Michelle endured:

● A piece of her skull was cut out and reversed to replace the missing half of her forehead!

● Her jawbone was moved from left to right and her teeth were wired shut for weeks to make her face round!

● Skin from under her right arm was used to build up her eyelid!

● Bone from her hip was removed to build a cheek!

● Ligaments from her right ear were used to build an eyelid over the gaping eye socket on the right side of her face!

● Ligaments from her left ear were used to make her a nose!

● Tissue from her tummy was used to fill out her cheek!

And for many of the operations the flesh from her entire face was cut away from ear-to-ear and peeled off like a glove to enable surgeons to perform their miraculous work.

Was all the pain and suffering worth it? Michelle thinks it was. But she doesn't really want to be a standout beauty.

"All I want is an ordinary face," she explained. "One that can be lost in the crowd. I don't want to look like a film star . . . just somebody that people won't bother to look at twice."

AS a young girl, Michelle Willis felt she was "too ugly to love."

Kooky punk rocker sprinkles fans with the ashes of his dead father!

Dog puts the bite on lottery winner!

Super lucky Stephen Stillman had no sooner won $2 million in a lottery than someone put the bite on him — his pet poodle.

The scared pooch sunk his little teeth into Stillman's leg when he ran upstairs to hug his wife and tell her the good news.

Stillman, 34, and his wife Cathy, of Greece, N.Y., will get $76,190 a year for 21 years.

The couple have played the same six numbers in the New York lottery for four years.

Gramps: Grouchy telephone operators ignored my pleas for help!

A frail 74-year-old man said he spent eight hours lying helpless on the floor while cranky telephone operators refused to help.

Canadian officials said the trouble started when Leopold Grimard, who has Parkinson's disease and who also wears a pacemaker, dropped his cane and fell as he groped for it in the dark.

"The only thing I could do was use the phone and I dialed the operator in the dark," said Grimard, who makes his home in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada.

When Grimard told the operator he had an emergency, she gave him another number to call for help, ignoring his desperate explanation that he couldn't write down the number or dial it in the dark.

At dawn Grimard gave up trying to get any assistance from the operator and started dialing numbers at random. Finally he reached a sympathetic woman who contacted the supervisor of Grimard's apartment building.

Now Grimard is advertising in a local newspaper in an attempt to locate the woman who was responsible for rescuing him.

"I'm very anxious to get in touch with her," he said. "She was good enough to put up with me and to help."

Scientists unearth massive monster from the dawn of time

Bones of 15-ton sea creature found in Alabama

MASSIVE BONES of prehistoric sea serpent are examined and covered with plaster by University of Alabama scientists at the dig site.

By DICK DONOVAN

Scientists in Alabama are feverishly digging up the fossilized skeleton of a prehistoric sea serpent so incredibly huge it could swallow a herd of cows — in one gulp!

The amazing creature has been positively identified as a mosasaur — a beast twice the size of the largest dinosaur that vanished off the face of the earth some 70 million years ago.

"It was the lord of the sea and there is nothing like it alive today," declared Robert T. Bakker, curator of the University of Colorado Museum.

Bakker is one of the elated scientists and researchers working the site in Lowndes County, about 35 miles southwest of Birmingham.

The serpent is estimated to be 60 feet long with a 6-foot-long head and a jaw so huge it has two hinges. It is believed to be the largest fossilized sea serpent ever unearthed anywhere in the world.

Experts say it probably weighed up to 15 tons, about twice the size of tyrannosaurus rex, the largest dinosaur known to have roamed the planet.

"If a tyrannosaurus rex ever ventured into the water where one of these was, it would have more than had its hands full," Bakker said. "This beast could have swallowed a Hereford steer whole."

He said the area in Lowndes County where the bones are now being unearthed was about 100 feet below the surface of the sea when mosasaurs ruled the deep.

He said mosasaurs have been uncovered in other parts of the world. "But the largest we know of were in the 40-foot range," he added.

The excavation team hopes to recover all of the fossilized bits and pieces so they can be reassembled.

It's so big it could eat cows like popcorn!

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of the gigantic sea serpent as compared to a human diver, a horse and an elephant.

AMAZING fossilized skeleton indicates that the creature's head was at least 6 feet long, says this scientist.

HARD LUCK THIEF COUGHS UP THE EVIDENCE

With police on his heels, a desperate thief swallowed the gold chain he snatched from a woman's neck, but the crook was arrested after coughing up the evidence just as police were about to release him. A Malaysian newspaper reported that a detective happened to be passing by as a thief grabbed a woman's necklace and ran down a crowded street in Kuala Lumpur with the suspect and haul him into a police station, but authorities decided to turn the man loose because they didn't have any evidence against him.

But as he was about to leave, the thief

Vampire threat frightens kids!

Hundreds of students at a Panama City, Fla., middle school stayed home after a classmate killed herself — and threatened to come back as a vampire.

School officials said the 14-year-old girl left behind a letter vowing to return to the school as "Samantha the Vampire" and kill other students.

Nearly a quarter of the school's 900 students stayed home when word of the threat got out.

Wacky ways some folks ask the boss for a raise

Hitting up the boss for a pay raise can be a big joke in more ways than one, say some of America's top executives.

One gutsy worker wanted more money to feed his birds and another wanted to buy a motorcycle for her boyfriend.

"I deserve a raise because I spend more time getting my work done than anyone else in my department," said an employee. Here are a few other pay raise reasons by dead-serious workers that may have brought more laughs than money.

"The area's economy is improving, so why shouldn't mine?"

"I need another raise to pay for the new car I bought to celebrate my last promotion."

"It would be a very nice birthday present."

"My dog just had puppies."

"My mother has her heart set on going to the Indianapolis 500."

"My mother-in-law demands that I pay for her karate lessons."

Spoiled pet tiger takes over home!

A spoiled-rotten, 100-pound Bengal tiger has taken a shine to her owners' king-size bed — so they've moved into a guest room.

"We moved into the guest bedroom because if we got up at 2 a.m. to get a drink of water, we'd wake her up," said Ramelle Rockhold of Zachary, La.

"And then, like a puppy, she'd be ready to play. She'd crawl under the covers and play with our feet."

Mrs. Rockhold and her hubby have to lock their bedroom door because their 7-month-old kitty-cat, Reena, can turn doorknobs.

"She's a little spoiled," said the frustrated owner. "I haven't had the heart to make her sleep outside yet."

Special code enables machine to reach beyond the grave

Super computer talks with the dead!

Dying subjects were trained to send back signals after they passed on to afterlife

By BEATRICE DEXTER

A unique computer has helped scientists achieve an astounding breakthrough in life-after-death research — by picking up signals from a man who died and recording his messages from beyond the grave!

Researchers at the University of Tashkent in the Soviet Union have successfully intercepted more than a dozen messages from the man, whom they call "Comrade K," according to an article in the publication The Paranormal Studies. The dead man describes the afterlife as "joyous, peaceful and complete."

"In 13 years of research we worked with 37 terminally ill subjects, training them in a specially-designed computer code," wrote Dr. Pyater Suslov, head of the four-man team of research psychologists. "We also developed a highly sensitive computerized machine which responds to the slightest changes in electrical fields. The machine was designed to accept the code and reflect it in letters, as a typewriter would.

"Thirty-six subjects passed on without a successful contact. But last month Comrade K succeeded — and spoke to us from the afterlife."

Suslov says that to date much of the communication with the dead man has concerned the computer code and problems with sending signals to the machine in the university research lab. Comrade K told scientists that he was unable to signal them for several weeks because of a faulty research design.

The dead man said he changed his method of transmitting signals — which involved a process resembling mental telepathy — and broke through the barrier at last.

"It would be impossible to put into words what we felt when we saw his first transmission come up on the computer screen," wrote Suslov, 45, a specialist in extrasensory phenomena. "It was too good to be believed — some of us feared it was a joke played by one of our colleagues.

"Eventually, however, Comrade K identified himself by means of a call sign known only to myself and one of my fellow researchers. We know without a doubt that it is the dead man who is communicating with us."

Suslov and his colleagues have questioned Comrade K — a physicist who died of cancer at the age of 39 — and the tact they have constructed the first scientifically verified description of life after death.

"Apparently death is a pleasant process leading to an existence in which all sensation of pain, anxiety, sadness and so forth, ceases to be," Suslov said. "Comrade K tells us that he is surrounded by light and warmth and a feeling of overwhelming love and well-being.

"Although he left behind two small children and a devoted wife, he says he does not worry about them in the least. 'The worst that can happen to a person on earth is death and I now know death to be a wonderful thing,' he told us. 'I am with my family constantly as though I were alive and living with them,' he said. 'Eventually I know they will be joining me here. Nothing else really matters.' "

Suslov and his fellow researchers have faithfully recorded every word of Comrade K's messages and plan to publish a transcript of the dead man's communications next March.

The messages continue to arrive on a daily basis, although the dead man has indicated that he plans to stop the communications eventually.

"I have reached you because I wanted badly to reassure the living that death is nothing to fear," the man told Suslov recently. "When I have made that clear to you I will feel my work is done."

A man on trial for stealing a new Lincoln Town Car was arrested during a lunch recess and charged with driving a stolen Mercedes, say police.

Authorities in Tampa, Fla., said 26-year-old Charles Turk showed up in court to face charges of stealing a 1988 Lincoln and was told to come back in the afternoon when jury selection was scheduled to begin.

But during the recess Turk got into even more trouble. Police said he was spotted driving a stolen 1981 Mercedes, which he proceeded to crash into a tree.

Cops say that Turk was arrested after he fled into a nearby apartment.

He was charged with burglary, resisting arrest, fleeing and eluding police and reckless driving.

7-month-old baby beats up his dad!

A battered dad was admitted to the hospital in agony after taking a painfully powerful punch to his left eye — from his 7-month-old son.

"The doctors and nurses thought it was hilarious when I told them my baby son walloped me," said Graham Ball, 28. "It was quite a whack. My eye closed totally in minutes."

Graham was helping his wife Linda put tiny Stephen to bed at their home in Slough, England, when the tough little toddler lashed out.

"I was up half the night as the pain got worse," he said. "I was in agony and there was nothing else for it but to go to the hospital."

The suffering dad went to the same hospital where his supertot son has had surgery and still undergoes treatment for club feet.

Doctors treated the father's badly scratched eye.

"They Didn't Think The Children And I Could Drill A Water Well."

— Mary Hickman

But, seeing is believing. Thank you, DeepRock.

MY FRIENDS THOUGHT I had lost my mind. The idea that the children and I could drill a water well by ourselves sounded like an impossible dream. However, we had to have more water for our large garden and lawn.

AN EASY WAY

Then I saw an advertisement that claims that you can drill your own well with a Hydra-Drill and save a lot of money. I had never even watched a well being drilled, much less drilled one myself, so I assumed it would be difficult. But they offered a free brochure, so I sent for it.

When the information came, I was delighted to find it contained a wealth of material. In addition to pictures and descriptions of the equipment, there is a very informative booklet about drilling your own water well.

I was impressed with the information package, but I wondered what we would do if we ran into a problem while we were drilling. Then I thought—well, they have a free consulting service with a toll-free telephone. Any company that is willing to go out on a limb like that, knowing they'll get calls from all over must have a lot of confidence in their product. So I took a deep breath, crossed my fingers, and ordered a Hydra-Drill.

TWO SURPRISES

Much to my amazement, the Hydra-Drill arrived from the factory in Alabama in just 7 days. That was my first surprise.

My second surprise was the simplicity and ease of operating the Hydra-Drill. The kids wanted to operate it, but there really wasn't much for them to do. There isn't any big mess and it's more like play than work. Best of all, we were drilling exactly where I wanted the well.

SPARKLING, CLEAR WATER

The biggest thrill came when we hit water. It was such an exhilarating experience, I can hardly describe it. We had drilled down into the earth and found sparkling, clear, delicious water! It was such fun, the kids are eager to drill some more wells.

It must be contagious; my friends are getting caught up in it, too. When we started, they thought it was a pie-in-the-sky idea. Now they've got the well-drilling bug and I could sell my Hydra-Drill in a minute.

IF YOU ASK ME

To anyone considering drilling a Hydra-Drill well, my advice is this: Sure it's a challenge, but don't be afraid. It's an exciting and satisfying experience. If you ask me if I think it's worth doing, I'll say, "Yes, I do. I really do!"

Robber armed with a needle — and AIDS-infected blood

A fiendish armed robber is terrorizing folks in Tacoma, Wash., with a bizarre new deadly weapon — a syringe filled with AIDS-infected blood.

Store clerks terrorized by fiendish crook

Three store clerks have turned over their money to the creepy crook rather than risk slow death from his horrifying new twist in the world of weaponry.

"I've read of other instances where people alleged to have AIDS have threatened police officers," said Tacoma police spokesman Dick Larson. "But we've not seen armed robbery by syringe in this area before.

"We're taking it very seriously."

The bandit threatened a convenience store clerk, saying the red fluid in the syringe was AIDS blood. The clerk gave him $150 rather than get stuck with the needle.

Similar threats were made to clerks at another convenience store and gas station. Again the crook fled with their money.

Cops believe the same punk robbed a combination gas station and store, but told the clerk the syringe was loaded with poison.

"We don't know whether the man has AIDS or not, but we're cautioning people not to take a chance," said Officer Larson.

"AIDS can be transmitted through unclean hypodermic needles.

"The syringe is a deadly weapon, especially if it is filled with AIDS-infected blood," Lawson added.

Reptile rustlers were nice guys

Thoughtful thieves rustled a herd of reptiles and bugs from a fish store — then packed up a supply of disgusting critters for them to eat.

The crooks broke into Ornamental Fish Imports of West Haven, Conn., lifting 30 pythons, two emerald tree boas, eight iguanas, 35 tarantulas and 12 scorpions, police say.

But fearing that their loot would starve to death, the brainy burglars stole them a food supply — 38 rats, 250 mice and dozens of bags of meal worms.

Clothes-minded neighbors nix man's nude yard work

A judge says Robert Norton is a fine citizen, but he still sentenced Norton to 30 days in jail — for doing his yard work in the nude.

The sentence came after the 65-year-old Pekin, Ill., man was convicted of working outdoors in his birthday suit — for the sixth time.

Judge Joe B. McDade said the oldster isn't a criminal in the normal sense of the word. But he said Norton has "one annoying habit" that alarms his neighbors.

"Even though I sympathize with you, I cannot condone your obstinate rejection of your fellow citizens."

Clerk uses broom to chase robber

By JOE BERGER

When a robber broke a billy club over Judy Setty's head, the convenience store clerk chased the crook out the door with a broom.

The hoodlum walked into the Joy Food Store in Ocala, Fla., and broke a jar of pickled eggs, cops said. When the clerk leaned over to clean up the mess, the man clobbered her with the club and headed for the cash register.

But Judy, stunned and bleeding, grabbed a broom and set out after the guy.

The terrified tough ran out the door. The clerk was treated for head injuries.

Teacher charged with 8 DWIs!

A high school English instructor has been charged with drunk driving eight times in 3½ years — but court records show that he's never even been tried.

Prosecutors in El Paso, Tex., haven't forgotten the charges against Curtis Burton, 41. They blame the delays on overloaded court dockets. A trial date has finally been set for the teacher. Prosecutors plan to consolidate the eight charges and ask for a two-year prison term and $2,000 fine for each arrest.

ENRAGED opera star Francine Bahr used her horned helmet to teach director Siggy Kreter a lesson!

Stunned audience sees 300 pounds of fury charge across stage

OPERA SINGER GORES DIRECTOR

By LAUREL BOWIE

Thundering, 300-pound soprano Francine Bahr got ticked off in the middle of an opera performance, charged across the stage like an enraged rhino — and gored her director with the horned helmet on her head!

"She just stopped singing, put her head down and came at me snorting like some kind of wild animal," dazed director Siggy Kreter told reporters from his hospital bed in Stuttgart, West Germany.

"I tried to kind of dance aside like a matador, but she got me with that horn and nearly ripped my insides out.

"She was a madwoman. I think she truly wanted to kill me — and she almost did."

Fat Francine, 39, was charged with assault in the bizarre attack, marking the second time she's landed in hot water in little over a year.

Late in 1986 the wide-bodied warbler toppled off the stage while trying to hit high C and crushed scrawny cellist Peter Pfaff like a bug. Puny Peter, 70, suffered a broken elbow and wrist, a wrenched neck and a concussion. He filed a $1 million suit claiming the songbird's belly flop squashed his musical career. The case of the diva's dive is still pending.

In the latest incident, Francine's amateur opera troupe was bellowing and bawling through its version of Wagner's Lohengrin when the king-size soprano spotted something that got her dander up.

"I said to myself, 'I'm going to get that little wimp.' I had the helmet with the horns on and he was holding his nose and laughing," she recalled. "He didn't think I could see him but I could, and I was furious.

"I mean, how would you feel if you were singing your heart out in front of 2,000 people and your director was holding his nose?

"I said to myself, 'I'm going to get that little wimp.' I had the helmet with the horns on my head, so I just went for him. He tried to get out of the way but I drove that thing into his side real good. He screamed and started bleeding like a stuck pig.

"It felt so good I was still laughing when they dragged me off to jail."

Some operagoers figured the charge of the roly-poly prima donna was all part of the show until they heard the punctured director's cries of anguish and saw blood flowing onto the stage.

"I thought that part was wonderful," said factory hand Helmut Greider. "My wife dragged me down to see that thing and when the fat lady stuck that guy, that was the only interesting thing I'd seen all night. Then they called off the rest of the opera. It was wonderful."

Tiny village may hold key to heart disease cure

Rare protein found that eats cholesterol

Scientists around the world are predicting a cure for heart disease following the discovery of a rare body protein in an isolated group of villagers that is able to gobble up cholesterol deposits in veins and arteries.

By SUSAN JIMISON

The amazing protein has been found only in the mountain hamlet of Limone in northern Italy among 300 or so of its inhabitants. Thanks to the rare protein, many citizens of Limone live well into their 100s.

Now researchers have announced they expect to have an artificial version of the protein available by the end of the year — a breakthrough which could mean the beginning of the end of coronary disease.

"This is an exciting discovery of major importance to the medical world," said Professor Cesare Sirtori of Milan University in Italy. "The protein — called Al Milano — is a super scavenger protein which attacks cholesterol."

The miracle protein was discovered quite by accident when a Limone man — railway worker Valerio Dagnoli — was admitted to a hospital in Milan with a stomach disorder.

Blood tests revealed that the 47-year-old man had high levels of cholesterol in his blood, but no evidence of fatty deposits in his heart or circulatory system. What's more, the man's heart and blood vessels were in amazingly good condition for a man his age.

Further tests revealed the presence of a strange new protein in Dagnoli's blood, a scavenger that eliminated cholesterol deposits from the man's system. Examination of Dagnoli's relatives in Limone confirmed that the protein was inherited — the result of a mutation thought to have occurred about 200 years ago.

Thanks to the wonder protein, Limone has about twice the normal number of people over 80. A high percentage of residents live into their 90s and 100s.

"The only people I have to treat for heart complaints are the tourists," said the village doctor, Antonio Cerrone.

In the months since the special Al Milano protein was discovered, researchers in the United States and Italy have been trying to recreate the substance in the laboratory. Recently they announced that a man-made version of the protein will be perfected by the end of the year with clinical trials on humans beginning in the next two or three years.

"The big challenge of the 1990s is to remove cholesterol stuck in the arteries," said Dr. Sirtori, "not just lower cholesterol in the blood which drugs are already doing."

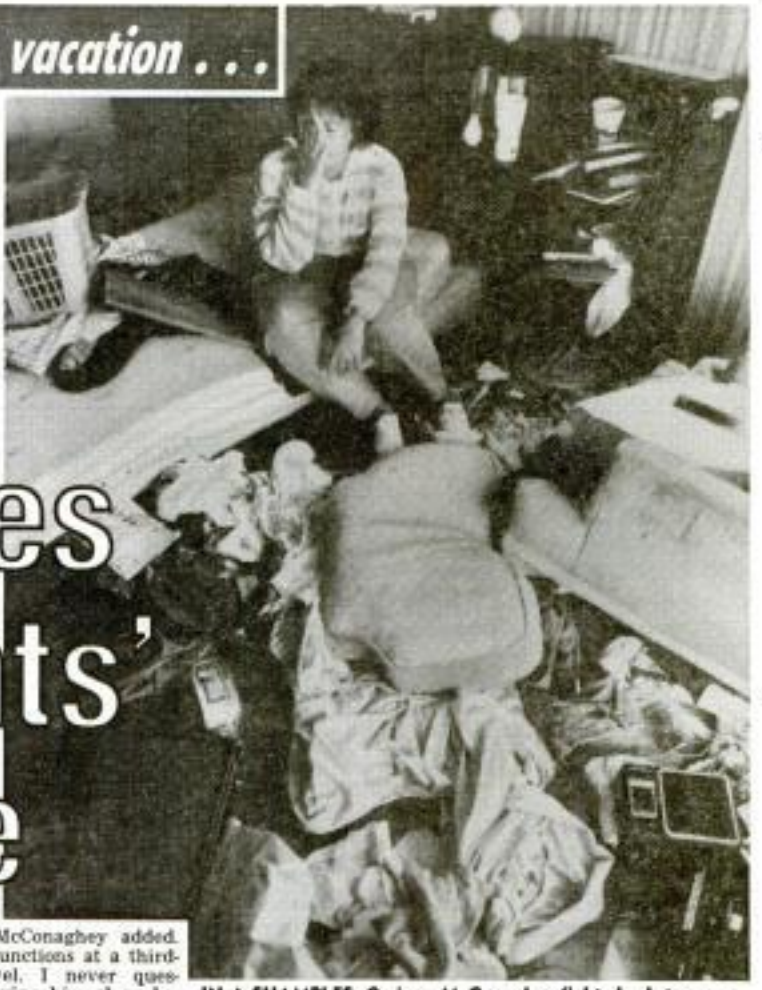
While mom & pop are away on vacation . . .

Week-long bash trashes parents' house



IN A SHAMBLES: Corinne McConaghey fights back tears as she surveys the damage done during the wild party.

Michael McConaghey, 20, had planned a quiet get-together with a few pals while his folks were sunning in Florida. But party crashers turned it into a wild demolition derby — with damages exceeding a whopping $18,000!

Add to that the value of three stolen VCRs, jewelry, cameras, computer gear and other nifty items . . . including the family Buick . . . and the McConaghey's total loss comes to somewhere in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Party crashers, perhaps as many as 100, left the house a shambles.

No room was spared. Massive holes were punched in the walls, a section of wall had been cut away with a power saw, toilets were plugged, windows and furniture were shattered, and mattresses were marinated in oil!

That's the god-awful scene that greeted Michael's parents, Corinne and Wallace, when they returned to their home in Rolling Meadows, a peaceful suburb of Chicago.

"We feel so violated," Michael's mom said after viewing the utter shambles of what had once been her beautiful two-story, four-bedroom home. "My 11-year-old boy is just devastated. He can't sleep at night.

"Michael is very well-read," Corinne McConaghey added. "But he functions at a third-grade level. I never questioned leaving him alone because we've done it before and everything was fine. I know he wouldn't have done this on his own."

What the McConagheys did not find, however, was son Michael.

Knowing his parents would be miffed at the utter devastation to their home, Michael decided to split for parts unknown.

But Michael, described by police as "a slow learner," was found in an Indiana truck stop, where he had paused in his hitchhike flight to Nashville, Tenn.

After Michael was back in what is left of his home, Rolling Meadows cops went about rounding up some of the party punks that had made off with the family's possessions. "So far, we've made eight arrests," Deputy Police Chief Dick Hammer told The NEWS.

"The young people have been charged with felony theft and burglary of an automobile.

"They range in age from 16 to 24 and most of them came to the house from out of town. Some traveled as far as 25 miles to get here.

"We've had homes wrecked by burglars before. But this was vindictive vandalism. I've never seen anything like it before. Anything that wasn't tied down was stolen and what wasn't stolen was virtually destroyed.

"The place looked just like bombs had exploded inside."

Chief Hammer said Michael is back home with his parents and that it appears all is forgiven.

"But it sure must have been one wild party," he added.

"It was a heck of a way for the parents to end a vacation, coming home to that mess."

WILL CIVIL WAR SPLIT SIAMESE TWINS?

Siamese twins want to be separated so they can fight on opposite sides of Nicaragua's civil war!

They choose different sides — and beg to be separated!

Pedro and Jaime Escobar, 26, are joined at the head and know that the operation could kill them. But they are willing to take the chance so they can support the Contras and Sandinistas in the conflict that has divided their nation.

"People act like we are freaks or crazy but we are dead serious," Jaime Escobar, the Contra, told reporters in added: "To fight for one's country is a holy mission. I love my brother and he loves me. But in this war, if allowed to fight, we would kill each other for what we believe in."

The brothers' plight has been complicated by the fact that they have no money to finance their operation. Even if they did have the cash, they have said the surgery to separate them is too risky and advised them not to go through with it.

A spokesman for the ruling Sandinista government said he was aware of the Escobars' wishes but refused to comment on reports that the state would pick up the tab for their operation. Meanwhile, the brothers are litgist Xavier Mora commented on the Escobars' bizarre wish. He said they "are merely asserting their desire for independence, much as an adolescent does.

"Think of it," he continued. "These young men have been joined since birth, without a moment's privacy. Their opposing political views are a natural outgrowth of that experience.

"And if they are separated I honestly believe they might kill each other on a battlefield. That's the only way they could be true to their country and themselves."

SLEEPYHEADS BEWARE!

New alarm clock will kick you out of bed

A Japanese inventor has developed a bed that makes it impossible to oversleep. Ignore the alarm and the thing gives you a swift kick — and dumps you on the floor!

Loving daughter foils parents' suicide bid — from 3,000 miles away

A New York woman stopped her parents' suicide try from 3,000 miles away!

The drama began when Shirley Bunton got home from work early one day and heard George and Dorothy Barber's farewell message on her telephone answering machine.

The elderly couple live in Clark-on-Sea, England. So Miss Bunton placed a transatlantic call to police, who rushed to the Barbers' home and found the couple in each other's arms — unconscious from sleeping pills.

It was nip and tuck but hospital doctors managed to save their lives.

"The couple figured their daughter wouldn't get home and hear their farewell message until everything was over," said a British cop.

"They apparently were depressed over their ill health."

SURVEY SHOCKER —

Jail mothers who caused birth defects

Moms should face criminal charges if their bad habits or lifestyles cause birth defects in their children, a stunning new survey reveals.

In a poll of its readers, Glamour magazine found that 46 percent favored prosecution if a baby's birth defects could be traced to something its mother did, such as smoke or drink excessively while pregnant.

Forty-two percent of readers said that such mothers should not face criminal penalties for their behavior.

Twelve percent were undecided, the magazine's May issue said.

Russian coward hides in cellar since WW2

By RAGAN DUNN

A Soviet army deserter who hid in a cellar for 44 years to avoid arrest says he shouldn't be punished because he was "born scared!"

"I wanted to fight, I tried to fight, but I just couldn't bring myself to do it," Ivan Kondratyenko, 69, told Moscow's Stroitelnaya Gazeta newspaper.

"I love my country and would do anything I could to help her," he added. "The one thing I couldn't do was fight for her.

"I was too frightened. I was born scared."

Police found Kondratyenko cowering in the corner of his dark, 12 by 12 cellar while investigating a fire in Shevrhenkovo, a village near Kiev, in January, said the newspaper.

Incredibly, he fled to the cellar when he was a strapping soldier of 25 — but emerged frail, sickly and silver-haired, aged 69.

"The best years of my life are in that cellar," said Kondratyenko, who is free while authorities decide whether to charge him with the capital crime of desertion.

Soviet deserter in World War II hid for 44 years in wife's cellar

MOSCOW — A World War II Soviet army deserter hid for 44 years in the cellar of his wife's home in a Ukrainian farming village, emerging only occasionally [illegible] Moscow newspaper said.

The newspaper said he deserted in fall 1941 soon after the Soviet Union entered the war [illegible] by Nazi Germany.

INCREDIBLE story of the Russian deserter made headlines in newspapers all around the world.

light of day, even just for a little while," he continued. "But I couldn't let anyone know I was alive.

"Then they would have known that I was a deserter."

In fact, Kondratyenko deserted his post with the Soviet comrades to fight off Nazi invaders in 1941 and later set up house with a widow under German occupation.

When the village was liberated by the advancing Soviet army in 1943, he was given a chance to redeem himself and deserted again. This time he married in secret and began his long sojourn in the cellar of his wife's home. Before the war's end the couple had conceived two children.

But Kondratyenko continued to hide out, living off the meager wages his wife earned as a factory worker. The old man's sons told police they begged their dad to give himself up but he steadfastly refused.

He whiled away the hours reading and playing checkers by himself, only occasionally leaving the cellar prison to stretch his legs at night.

"I am embarrassed for myself and my family," said Kon- mercy and are lenient with me.

"I don't want to die for something I did 44 years ago," he said.

Row over split of $250G prize spells sad end to love story

By JACK ALEXANDER

Her globe-trotting fiance, Giorgio Muskens, was out of the country when Krystal, a Saskatoon hairstylist, had the winning ticket in Saskatchewan's monthly 6/36 lottery draw.

"I couldn't wait for Giorgio to call so I could tell him the good news," Krystal, 31, told The NEWS.

"He told me he intended to put the money in a Swiss bank account. When I insisted my half stay in Canada, he said I was not entitled to half — that he intended to pay off my car, buy me a few presents, but ultimately, the entire winnings would be under his control."

And when Giorgio said their relationship was not worth $250,000, heartbroken Krystal contacted her lawyer.

Krystal said Giorgio, 37, picked the numbers and she bought the ticket. His lawyer said Krystal bought the ticket in Giorgio's behalf.

When news of the lovers' split over money made the news, Krystal said her life became a nightmare.

Rather than see their romantic personal life go public in a greedy court fight, Krystal said she offered her one-time lover $150,000, and he accepted.

"I hope with his extra share of the $250,000 he takes the fastest plane out of Saskatoon and Canada and never returns," she said. "It's a terrible way for a romance to end. Yes, I'm heartbroken. I'm sad and distressed."

HEARTBROKEN Krystal Lawrie was looking forward to marrying the man of her dreams until they won a big lottery payoff.

Absentminded sky diver forgot his chute twice

A sky diver who jumped from a plane without a parachute almost made the same mistake earlier in the day, a federal investigator reports.

Walter Rigsbee said absentminded Ivan McGuire, 35, fell 10,000 feet to his death on April 2 in Raleigh, N.C., on his third jump of the day.

"There was no problem with the first time," said Rigsbee of the Federal Aviation Administration. "On the second he forgot to put on his chute but one of the other parachutists brought it to his attention before he boarded the plane."

Jilted Rambo kills ex-girlfriend in his assault on hospital

BEFORE LOVE DIED: Carolyn Myland and her Rambo-copycat boyfriend David Jenkins were sweethearts for eight years.

Jilted David Jenkins shot dead his childhood sweetheart in a hospital emergency room — after a cop assigned to protect the girl allowed him to pass.

Pretty Carolyn Myland's cold-blooded murder came only minutes after she had told her worried mom, "If someone doesn't stop him, I'll end up on a morgue slab."

That prediction came true in May 1987 when David burst into the emergency room at Lister Hospital in Stevenage, England, and shot Carolyn at point-blank range before the horrified eyes of her mom.

The love-crazed fanatic — who fancied himself a real-life Rambo — admitted the murder, claiming he had intended to then take his own life. He has just been sentenced to life in prison.

In an incredible police blunder, the 24-year-old barmaid had been rushed to the hospital after David stormed her home and slashed her with a bowie knife as she slept. A police constable was assigned to stand guard near the room where Carolyn was waiting for treatment.

. . . and cops take blame!

When David, 25, showed up at the hospital, he was dressed from head to toe in black, had a bandolier of 20 cartridges slung Rambo-style across his chest, and a shotgun hidden in a leg of his jeans. Despite his appearance, the constable let David pass. Moments later, he shot Carolyn in the chest.

The murder climaxed a love affair that began when they were both 16. They had a stormy, on-and-off romance, but eventually became engaged. Then Carolyn made a clean split from him in May 1986. But David carried a torch for Carolyn.

Twice in the two weeks before the murder, David was jailed but released on bond after assaulting Carolyn and her dad and threatening her with death.

Be wary of an unusual offer that may be presented to you in the week ahead.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

All signs indicate that your luck is about to improve dramatically. Make use of your coming good fortune by taking a few calculated risks in order to get ahead.

Typical Taurus stubbornness could pose a problem in the week ahead and you should strive to be more objective. Avoid conflicts by making an effort to see the other guy's point of view.

First impressions may prove to be significant at this time. Follow your instincts.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

While vexing question marks still hang over a close relationship, an exciting change in your personal life looms on the horizon. There may be a new you arising.

The tide of your luck is favorable. Don't be namby-pamby about venturing out into unfamiliar waters. But for goodness' sake, don't allow your Gemini irresponsibility to sidetrack your destiny!

Something delightful may embrace you this week. Play your cards right and you'll be rewarded.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

The elements that control your destiny are all favorable. If ever there was a time for you to make a fresh start, this surely is it. Stop moaning and groaning about mistakes of the past. Just believe in yourself!

Tie up all loose ends during the week and enjoy your weekend.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Hard-charging Leo has been busy and your inner self has been neglected. Get in touch with feelings and fears by paying attention to dreams. Keep a pad and pencil on the night table so you can wake up and write down dreams. That way you won't forget.

A fast-talking stranger nearly talks your pals into a get-rich-quick deal. You save the day by refusing to fall for the bull.

The color green brings you luck over the weekend.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

A long-standing situation finally comes to a head after years of simmering on the back burner. Clear-thinking Virgo has the patience and emotional control to make a fair decision to conclude the matter.

Virgo's natural tendency to share thoughts with pals and kin can be worthwhile. But there are some things better kept to one's self. Take care not to frighten or insult others with your ideas.

Next week will start smoothly, thanks to your careful planning.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Things are looking up, Libra. Someone you haven't seen in ages is headed back into your life — quite possibly this week — and he or she could make you happier than you've been in a long, long time. A word of caution: Don't let your good fortune make you greedy.

Use all your Libra charm and sense of humor to smooth over a misunderstanding with someone in authority.

Travel could prove tricker than usual now.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Stop, look and listen, Scorpio. The stars are flashing you a warning sign this week, and it's worth paying attention to.

Someone important has his eye on you and that could be bad news. Watch where you walk to avoid treading on fancy toes.

On a brighter note, an exciting proposition could come your way. When it does, go for it.

A young friend or relative will soon make you very happy — and very proud. Congratulations!

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Don't get bogged down in details this week if you can help it, Sagittarius. You need to keep an overview of events in order to get things done.

Matters of health may preoccupy you for a while. Stay away from quack cures and consult a medical doctor for serious problems. In the long run, the outlook for your health is good.

Someone close to you will enjoy amazing good fortune soon. You will be part of the celebration and joy.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Set time aside in your busy schedule for some serious thinking about your life. This is an excellent week to make major decisions about the future.

Your Capricorn optimism will be especially helpful for friends or relatives in the next few days.

Someone you know may need to lean on you for a while, so share your strength.

You may experience feelings of frustration, but nagging problems will soon resolve themselves.

If your birthday is this week . . .

The year to come brings the opportunity to better yourself from top to bottom. A change of occupation or career is almost definitely in the offing — even housewives are going to find themselves taking off in new directions.

A single financial catastrophe will be more than offset by overall cash gains, beginning with a surprise inheritance or sweepstakes win later this summer.

A diet or exercise plan will pay big dividends, not only in the way you look — but in your love life as

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Opportunity for a financial windfall is right around the corner. Use your money wisely. Get sound advice from people who know. Look out for the con artists. They're everywhere.

A close friend or relative may try to take advantage of your good nature and tolerance for the faults of others. Don't be too willing to help.

ACCUSED THIEF SWIPES CAR OF JUDGE WHO SET HIM FREE

Teenager Erie Whipple is back in the slammer again after a judge released him without bail on a car theft charge — and he was arrested a few days later and charged with stealing the judge's car!

Police say Whipple, 18, had no idea the car he stole belonged to His Honor, but he'll have to tell that to another judge.

Meanwhile he's back in jail waiting for trial on charges of car theft and second-degree burglary.

"I told him it was the judge's car and he turned white," Det. John Olson of the Seattle, Wash., police department told The NEWS. "He was terrified.

"He took the car from in front of the judge's home. He said he had no idea where the judge lived. He picked the car out of the blue. He looks for an open door and a spare key in the glove compartment and that's how the judge left his car."

The victim of the car theft, Seattle District Court Judge Philip Killien, refused to comment on the case, nor did he say whether he has changed his views on releasing suspects from jail while they're awaiting trial.

Judge Killien's car — a 1980 Honda Civic station wagon with a couple of baby seats in the back — has been returned.

Meanwhile, young Whipple is stuck in jail because he can't come up with $31,000 — the bail amount set for him by a more cynical judge than Killien.

Boy taken into custody by shocked cops after he's . . .

Treated worse than a dog!

PITIFUL young victim, Niki Larsen, 6, was beaten, starved and shackled to the bed, shocked authorities said.

By PETE COOKE

In a case that broke the hearts of hardened street cops, a courageous little boy endured a nightmarish life locked in his room, shackled to his bed and stealing food from the family dog to survive, authorities said.

Police in Orem, Utah, said Niki Larsen, 6, was suffering from malnutrition and was smaller than his 3-year-old sister when officers, investigating reports of unbelievable cruelty, rescued the boy and arrested his mother.

The other four children of 33-year-old Loretta Larsen apparently weren't being mistreated, but little Niki never knew anything but abuse, investigators said.

"It's pathetic," said police spokesman Gerald Nielsen. "Niki is about the size of a 2½-year-old child. He looks like the children you see in pictures of famine victims in Ethiopia."

Nielsen said that during the recent raid on the Larsen home, officers confiscated two sets of handcuffs and unopened Christmas presents sent to Niki by his grandparents.

The other children in the family told police that Niki wasn't fed because he was "wasteful," said Nielsen.

"He would go for as long as four days at a time without anything to eat at all," Nielsen said. "Niki told us he would take food from the dog and hide it in his pockets so he could eat it later."

According to the police spokesman, Niki would also scrape leftover food from dirty dishes at night, but his mother put a stop to that by handcuffing him to his bed.

"The poor kid was so skinny that his wrists would slip right through the handcuffs," Nielsen said.

"He was handcuffed by the ankle to the frame of his bed. He was only allowed to get up to go to the bathroom. He had to sleep on the floor." Nielsen added that little Niki never went to school and was only rarely let out of the house.

"Most of the time Niki was made to stand in the corner or he was locked in a closet or locked in his room," Nielsen also said. "There were latches on the closet door and a deadbolt lock on his bedroom door. When they took Niki along when they went out, he had to lay on the floor in the back of the car and they covered him with a blanket so no one would see him."

Authorities investigated reports of Niki being mistreated two years ago but couldn't file charges then, Nielsen said.

"He was kicked across the room like a football a couple years ago and ruptured his pancreas, but we couldn't prove who did it," the police spokesman said.

But this time authorities charged Niki's mother with child abuse and allowing a child to be abused. Her 27-year-old boyfriend, Kim Shaw, was also charged with child abuse.

"The officer who took Niki out of the house asked him if he was okay and he said, 'I'm okay, but I'm hungry.'" according to Nielsen. "The officer asked him what he wanted to eat and Niki said he wanted a peanut butter and jelly sandwich. The officer couldn't get one anywhere else, so he called his wife and had her bring a peanut butter and jelly sandwich down to the boy."

Nielsen said Niki has gained several pounds since being placed in a foster home, "but he says he misses his mom, and says things like, 'My mom handcuffed me, but she didn't put the handcuffs on real tight.'"

Niki's brothers, ages 12, 9 and 7 and his 3-year-old sister have also been placed in

Women drivers safer than men

Men, it's time to stop making those jokes about women drivers.

The undisputed evidence is in — the ladies are three times as safe as men at the wheel of a car.

Dr. Jeremy Broughton, a researcher, recently completed a study of every accident in Europe for 1985. He discovered that a male motorist's risk of a fatal crash is one in 300. A woman's is one in 850.

Over the average driving lifetime between the ages of 17 and 70, a male's chances of being injured is one in 25 — a woman's is one in 40.

Incredibly, nearly half of all Britain's male drivers will be injured in accidents during their time on the road. This compares with a third of women drivers.

Kid lets prize fish off the hook

Teenager Jim David caught a $1,000 fish — and released it because he didn't want to see it end up dead.

Trivia

Once again, the intrepid staff of The NEWS has scoured the far reaches of the globe, searching out itty-bitty bits of trivia that are guaranteed to make you the most lovable bore at a party.

Here are some of the best:

● Mama alligators lay about 50 eggs in a single clutch. But the eggs must remain still. The embryonic gators will drown inside if the eggs are turned over.

● Good old boy Russell L. Hawes invented the envelope — and put the makers of sealing wax and signet rings in bankruptcy court.

● Did pugilist Al Couture jump the bell? In a fight on Sept. 29, 1946, he kayoed Ralph Walton in 10½ seconds — including the 10-second count.

● They say in Mongolia that if you want to hang yourself, you'll first have to walk 100 miles to find a tree.

● An edible dead rat was once the standard currency on Easter Island in the Pacific Ocean.

● The number of annual U.S. bathroom accidents involving toilets is 21,000, sinks 18,000 and towels 2,300.

● Roughly 400,000 New Yorkers head for work every day in taxis, but nearly 300,000 walk.

WHY do manufacturers intentionally make needles dull?

● Fishhooks are honed as sharp as they can be, but pins are purposely dulled in the making so they will only pierce the cloth, not the threads.

● If you mixed all the colors in a rainbow together, that pretty little arc in the sky would be gray. So don't mix 'em together. Got that?

● First Lady Nancy Reagan nee Davis appeared in a high school play in 1939 entitled — First Lady.

● In the 1800s, lady-type ladies were so darn modest that when they went to see a doctor, they took along a doll — so they could point to where it hurt.

● Wyatt Earp's pal Bat Masterson truly did have 22 notches in his pistol. But he carved 'em all at the same time — on a second-hand six-gun he bought in a New York pawn shop.

● Baby pigeons drink milk — produced by both the mama and the papa pigeon!

● Are we going from bad to worse? Well, seven years ago there were only 30 free soup kitchens for the needy in New York City. Today, there are 500!

● It was a woman in the Massachusetts Bay Colony who donated the land on which the first free school was built. But guess what? Girls weren't allowed to attend!

● Three times as much money goes to pay parking meter fines as goes into parking meters.

● To wake up a possum that's playing possum, just throw the little fella in water.

● Between 1912 and 1918 the U.S. government actually washed and dried dirty paper money. Finally, the feds decided to use throw-away money.

WHAT was First Lady Nancy Reagan's first brush with life in the White House?

Nice guy robs bank

A middle-aged man was turned down for a bank loan so he helped himself to the cash he needed!

To his credit, employees of the Union City, Tenn., bank said the guy was just about the nicest robber you'd ever want to meet, apologizing the whole time he was collecting the money. "He said he was going to die in a few months if he didn't get the money," said a clerk. "He said the government was giving money to Nicaragua and to everyone else and he couldn't even get a loan."

The robber got away clean, cops said.

JET PILOT SURVIVES 10-MILE FREE-FALL

"Mother Russia — I'm going down!"

Those were the words of Soviet fighter pilot Melor Ivanov seconds after he bailed out of his disabled MiG-29 and realized his parachute was jammed.

By IRWIN FISHER

By all rights the pilot's 10-mile free-fall should have killed him. But a Radio Moscow report said he came through the ordeal with 17 broken bones and a concussion.

According to that report, the drama began when Ivanov encountered enemy fire after "accidentally entering Iranian airspace."

The exact location of the conflict wasn't named. But Radio Moscow said the 32-year-old pilot ejected a split second before a surface-to-air missile blew his MiG out of the sky.

In a live interview Ivanov said:

Thrower hit by his boomerang

Mike Harvey's boomerang came back with such a vengeance that it sliced open a three-inch cut in the back of his head!

"This is a genuine aborigine weapon from Australia, sharp-edged like a knife — not one of those play boomerangs," said the 43-year-old man from Pelynt, England. "I had a couple of tries then I suddenly lost sight of it. The next thing I knew it was coming straight at me."

Harvey tried to dodge the boomerang but it was too late. "It clobbered me in the back of the head," he said.

Water overdose

By RAFE KLINGER

Tom Nield suddenly collapsed onto the floor in a violent fit of convulsions, slipped into a coma and was given last rites by a priest — all because he drank too much water.

The bizarre case of the almost-fatal water overdose was linked to the 32-year-old Glenboig, Scotland, man's toothache. Tom kept mouth to calm the throbbing pain in his jaw and ended up swallowing too much.

"It's weird to know that drinking water can kill you," said Tom who six months after his horrible near-death ordeal still suffers dizzy spells.

"But that's what nearly happened to me."

isn't opening — I'm going down!'

SOVIET LEADER Mikhail Gorbachev, right, invited Major Ivanov to the Kremlin to congratulate him on his good fortune and bravery. Ivanov ejected from his MiG-29, below, after being gunned down over Iran.

'The timing was perfect and ou can't imagine my euphoia at clearing the plane beore it exploded.

"But my relief didn't last. As I began my descent, it lawned on me that something vas wrong. Picking up speed, felt what was happening. Mother Russia,' I thought. My parachute isn't opening — 'm going down.'" I was frantic. Adrenalin was surging through my body until it felt like I was on fire.

"I struggled to free my parachute. I clawed and I tugged. But it was hopeless. A million thoughts raced through my mind. I was afraid I would never again see my wife.

"I was afraid I would never again see Russia. I knew I was going to die. The last thing I remember was freezing wind tearing at my eyes and face. Then I passed out."

When the pilot awoke he was in an Iranian hospital, bandaged from head to toe.

Radio Moscow did not say how he got back to Russia. But it is clear that some sort of deal was struck with the Iranians, possibly a prisoner exchange.

Dr. Nikolai Egorov said Ivanov survived the 10-mile plunge thanks to luck and superior conditions. It is believed that he was traveling well over 100 miles an hour when he landed flat on his back on sand.

Mikhail Gorbachev was so impressed that he invited the young pilot to the Kremlin to personally congratulate him.

"I am lucky to be alive," said Ivanov.

The previous record for free-fall survival was set by Yugoslavian Vesna Vulovic. According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the Jugoslavenski Aerotransport hostess survived a 33,330-foot fall — without parachute — when the DC-9 she was flying on blew up over Czechoslovakia in 1977. Like pilot Ivanov, the woman broke a lot of bones and suffered a head injury but recovered fully.

ed his family and friends nd baffled doctors who were onvinced he was struck own by a killer brain tumor.

According to Tom's wife ffary, he had filled a small with cold running water to swish in his mouth and quell the ache from a bad tooth. Mary thought he was spitting out the water, but apparently he was swallowing most of it.

and began writhing about. Then the poor man lapsed into a coma.

The fit was so powerful that Tom tore the straps on the stretcher in the ambulance.

A priest was called and gave the apparently dying man last rites. Finally, doctors pinned down his collapse to the water.
